a frame or block of wood carrying an axle moved in grooves in the two uprights, a heavy lump of lead was fixed on the upper part of the axe frame to this was fixed a ring to which was tied one end of a piece of small cord this went over a pulley or through a hole in the roof and was brought down along one of the uprights when it was fastened to a hook. There are two of the common form, the edge little curved and about a foot in length along the edge — The criminal was placed on his knees on the inside, his head was then pulled by the hair down between the two uprights to a cross piece on which his throat was supported — With a chisel and mallet the executioner severed the ax was cut at one blow when his head was separated entirely from the body — a guinea

by a standard standard

had been laid near the block he asked the Clerk the head was set upright in front of the block and the body was covered with a mat — All this was performed in less than one minute —

— The second criminal who at the request of the other had given the body irrevocably was instantly by laid on the block his arms and legs extended
