Mrs Dundas's Compt^r to Mr Dinwiddie She incloses a list of subscribers names, to the amount of nineteen, & has no doubt, from the success she has already met with, but that in other two days there will be a great accession; so as amply to reward his trouble in visiting Richmond—The People at the Castle have not sent any information to Mr Dundas's respecting the room ~~of~~ ^{the} which, along with some other circumstances Mr Ewart has undertaken to mention to Mr Dinwiddie; it being agreed that he ought not to make any delay — & Mrs Dundas really flatters herself that he will find a reception worthy of him.
