

Elizabeth Brewster's "Visitations" is the title story of a new collection of her fiction to be published in 1986 by Oberon Press. The title story of her earlier collection, "A House Full of Women", also appeared first in The Dalhousie Review.

G.P. Brooks is Professor of Psychology at Saint Francis Xavier University in Antigonish, Nova Scotia. He maintains an interest in eighteenth century British thought, and is currently working on didactic literature and the self-improvement movement.

David Citino teaches at Ohio State University and edits The Ohio Journal.

Evelyn J. Hinz, Professor of English at the University of Manitoba, is editor of Mosaic. John J. Teunissen is Professor and Head of the English Department at the University of Manitoba and former co-editor of The Canadian Review of American Studies.

Bruce Isermann lives in Elmwood, Ontario.

Michael H. Keefer chairs the English Department at Université Sainte-Anne in Pointe de l'Église, Nouvelle Écosse.

Lindsay A. Mann has published articles on Chaucer and on Donne and teaches in the English Department at Carleton University in Ottawa.

Paul Smith is the author of Pound Revisited, and is now with the Department of English at Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Rowland Smith, the author of a study of Roy Campbell's poetry, is Professor of English at Dalhousie University.

Charles S. Taylor is with the Department of Philosophy at Wright State University in Ohio. "The Faithfulness to the Earth of Nikos Kazantzakis' Odysseus" appeared in a Spanish translation by Henry Lowick-Russell in Bizantion Nea Hellas nos. 7-8 (1985).

Larry Towell has been in Central America and the U.S. on a Canada Council Creative Writing grant. He is the author of Buring Cadillacs (Black Moss Press, 1983).

Tracy Ware, formerly a Killam Postdoctoral Fellow at Dalhousie, is now with the Department of English at the University of Western Ontario.