The Telephone One of the Glories of the Sixty Years

Has any period of equal duration in the history of the world seen such an upturning of the ways and methods of the "good old days" preceding it as the sixty years that have elapsed since the Confederation of Canada became an accomplished fact?

Among other distinctive glories of that period in every field of endeavor, inventive genius has during that time found its fullest play and has marked the period as peculiarly its own.

Perhaps of all the great achievements of the inventive mind and the skilled hand which characterize the last 60 years, none comes closer to the people at large than the invention of the Telephone.

At the beginning of the period, long distance communication was in the main effected by means of the physical transportation of the written message. Weeks were required for the transmission of a communication and the receipt of the reply. The effectiveness of the voice as a means of communication was limited to mere hailing distance.

To-day, at the conclusion of that eventful period of time, the Telephone has practically abolished distance as a factor in considering the power of communication by voice.

It has made as easy and as quickly effective a talk across a continent as across the street, and a talk across the street as a talk face to face.

The Telephone has made the citizens of our Confederated Provinces as next-door neighbours, and is in process of making an everyday commonplace of talks between the ocean-separated Dominions and Dependencies of the far-flung British Empire.

EVERY MAN INTENDS TO MAKE A WILL

But when one feels fit and eager for the day's work, can make the ninth hole in four and help carry a canoe around a three-mile portage, it's hard to contemplate the idea of a WILL with any seriousness.

That's why so many men die without a will.

That's why so many a comfortable little fortune is wasted in legal tangles.

That's why so much property gets into hands for which it was never intended.

Every man has rather decided views about the disposition of the wealth that he has created and saved. And he can enforce his wishes by a carefully drawn will and a wise choice of an executor. He can choose no executor who will administer his estate more prudently and faithfully than

A Good Living

Old Age

THE Canada Life Assurance Company has a District in the Province of Ontario, offering these opportunities.

There is a certain man, with no Life Insurance experience, with whom we desire to get in touch; likely a very promising business man between twenty-five and forty-five years of age, who realizes the limitations across his path of opportunity, and whose abilities require greater outlook and earning capacity.

Such a man may want to make a move, but hesitates to "take a plunge."

There is a better way: The Canada Life will undertake to thoroughly educate him for the life insurance business, which has been growing and will grow as has no other business, a business which offers permanent success, does not fluctuate, is a professional occupation and has been truly named "The best paid hard work in the world."

This is done by close contact, a correspondence course and personal assistance, free of charge.

The first two booklets of the course will be sent to anyone interested. All correspondence strictly confidential.
