

WILLIAM BEDFORD has published short stories widely in British, American, and Canadian magazines. He has published three collections of poetry, two children's novels, and three novels for adults: Happiland, All Shook Up, and Catwalking.

RALPH BERRY's recent books include On Directing Shakespeare: Interviews with Contemporary Directors (Hamish Hamilton, 1989) and Shakespeare and Social Class (Humanities Press, 1988).

TOM CHANDLER teaches at Rhode Island School of Design. His poems have appeared in Carolina Quarterly and many other magazines. His latest book is One Tree Forest.

JOHN FAWELL is Assistant Professor in Humanities at the College of General Studies, Boston University. He writes on nineteenth-century literature, film (particularly French film), and popular culture. His articles have appeared in Midwest Quarterly, French Review, French/American Review, Literature/Film Quarterly, Kentucky Review, among others.

HAIM GORDON is a senior lecturer at Ben Gurion University of the Negev. His most recent books are Israel/Palestine: The Quest for Dialogue (with Rivca Gordon [1991]); Naguib Mahfouz's Egypt: Existential Themes in His Writings (1990); Make Room for Dreams: Spiritual Challenges to Zionism (1989). RIVCA GORDON is general manager of the Foundation for Democratic Education in Israel. With Haim Gordon she published Israel/Palestine: The Quest for Dialogue (1991).

AMBER HAYWARD lives and writes at the Black Cat Ranch in Hinton, Alberta, where writing workshops are frequently held. She is a member of the editorial collective, Other Voices, and a former secretary of the Writers Guild of Alberta. Her poetry and short stories have appeared in many literary magazines, including CVII, The New York Quarterly, and Quarry.

JOHN LINGARD teaches English literature and drama at Nipissing University. His translations of Henrik Ibsen's plays have been performed at the Shaw and Stratford Festivals in Ontario. He has published articles on Ibsen, Walter de la Mare, H. M. Tomlinson, and Harold Pinter.

TOM LIPS works as an editor in Ottawa, Ontario. Recently his poems have appeared in Dalhousie Review, The Fiddlehead, and Ariel. He is a prolific songwriter and released his first recording in 1991.

ROGER NASH's third collection of poems, Night Flying, was published by Goose Lane Editions in 1990. A collection of essays on the psalms, The Poetry of Praise, is forthcoming from Brynmill Press in the U.K. He teaches philosophy at Laurentian University.

PATRICK O'FLAHERTY teaches English literature at Memorial University in St. John's, Newfoundland.

LISA ROBSON obtained her M.A. from the University of Saskatchewan and is currently lecturing in the English Department at Brandon University.

DANIEL JAMES SUNDAHL is Professor of English and Director of The Program in American Studies at Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, Michigan. He teaches Critical Theory, the American Novel, and British Romantic and Victorian Poetry. His poems, book reviews, and articles have appeared in a number of periodicals, including Dalhousie Review, Commonweal, the Southern Poetry Review, and the New York Quarterly.