

CONTRIBUTORS

Carol Ames, whose Ph.D. dissertation was on fiction, teaches literature at State University College of New York at Plattsburgh.

Irving H. Buchen, who teaches at Fairleigh Dickinson University, is the author of The Perverse Imagination and is scheduled to present a paper on "Science Fiction: The Literature of Transition" at the annual MLA meeting this December.

F. Ronald Hayes, F.R.S.C., former Head of the Department of Biology and former Vice-President of Dalhousie University, is now Professor of Biology and Killam Senior Fellow at Dalhousie.

J.M. Kertzer teaches and writes about modern and Canadian literature at the University of Toronto.

Sister Beverly Mitchell, a Ph.D. candidate from the University of New Brunswick, lives in Calgary where she is completing her dissertation on the fiction of Ethel Wilson.

Roberta Rubenstein is an associate professor of literature at American University in Washington, D.C., when she teaches courses in modern fiction.

Buford Scrivner, Jr., taught at Norfolk State College in Norfolk, Virginia, and is spending this year in London doing research at the British Museum.

David Stouck, who teaches English at Simon Fraser, has a book, Willa Cather's Imagination, scheduled to appear in the spring and has also written articles on Canadian literature.

H.P. Sucksmith, who taught English in England, Australia and at Dalhousie, is the author of books on Dickens and Joyce as well as of many articles.

G.F. Waller teaches English at Dalhousie, specializing in Renaissance literature, and occasionally pursuing his obsession into twentieth-century fiction.

Jennifer Waller, who has just completed her doctorate, combines the study of seventeenth-century literature with Library Science and now lives at Bedford, Nova Scotia.

Norman Ward is Professor of Economics and Political Science at the University of Saskatchewan, and a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada.

VERSE from Mark Frutkin, Wolf Lake, Quebec; Nigel Jenkins, England; Elizabeth Jones, Cambridge Station, Nova Scotia; Michael Brian Oliver, Back Bay, New Brunswick; Gaston Pelletier, Delhi, New York; Linda Pyke, Toronto; Colin Style, South Africa; Maxine Tynes, Dartmouth, Nova Scotia; Lorraine Vernon, Vancouver.