

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

EDVARD BENES.

President of the Government of Czechoslovakia in London. The DALHOUSIE REVIEW is honored by this opportunity to serve as medium for the leader whose cause rouses such enthusiasm and whose personality is so much admired in Canada.

OTTO STRASSER.

Leader of the "Free Germans". Described by Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels as "Hitler's Public Enemy Number 1". Dr. Strasser organized a powerful anti-Hitler movement inside Germany, and conducted the "secret transmitter" which sent out anti-Hitler radio addresses from across the Czechoslovak frontier.

PHILIP GODSELL.

Of Winnipeg. Fur trader and explorer in Western Arctic.

SIGRID UNDSSET.

The well-known Norwegian novelist: winner of the Nobel Prize for Literature, 1928.

MARCELLE ABELL.

Mrs. Walter Abell, of Wolfville, N. S.

D. C. HARVEY.

Provincial Archivist for Nova Scotia.

CYRIL CLEMENS.

Nephew of Mark Twain: Editor of The Mark Twain Quarterly.

A. K. GRIFFIN.

Professor of Classics, King's College, Halifax.

FRANCES R. ANGUS.

Of Montreal.

J. R. MALLORY.

Graduate research worker, Department of Government, Dalhousie University.

RICHARD MILES.

Nom-de-plume for a young Canadian soldier who prefers to have his verses appear so.