Developed in 2007 and launched in 2008, the DalSpace repository carries a diverse range of items from the Dalhousie academic community. Several collections relate to the history of Dalhousie University in Nova Scotia, as well as the fall of 2010 will see growth in science and medicine in Nova Scotia, as well as the 150th anniversary in 2012. The Institute of Public Affairs, the Institute of Science, the Dalhousie University History, the Nova Scotia Medical Bulletin, and the Institute of Public Affairs are some of the collections that are related to the history of Dalhousie University in Nova Scotia.

DalSpace repository carries a diverse range of documents on a broad range of socio-economic issues and published the quarterly entitled Public Affairs.

Law Commission of Canada

- Document themes:
  - Age
  - Banking
  - Beyond Conjugality
  - Electoral Reform
  - Globalization
  - Participatory Justice
  - Policing
  - * Bilingual collection

Faculty Research

- Dr. Chris Corkett has deposited a variety of work, including conference papers, posters, a report and an article:
  - “... if your goal is to maintain high employment for fishermen and processors then you should never even consider introducing a management system involving quota ownership.”

Graduate Theses

- Isolation of Lead-Amino Acid and Mercury-Amino Acid Complexes with Characterization in the Solid State, the Solution State, and the Gas Phase

Library Assessment Data

- LibQUAL+® survey – includes raw data, survey questions, user comments (restricted)
- Ex Libris SFX® resolver usage
- SFX Clickthroughs per Target
- April 2009

Copyright-Protected Course Resources

- Access restricted to Dalhousie faculty and registered students
- Architectural images
- Law school exams for compulsory & optional courses

DalSpace: Collections from the Past and Present

Michelle Paon, Dalhousie University Libraries, Halifax, N.S.