Maritime Intercollegiate heavyweight champion Jim Cruikshanks, who will defend his crown in the Intercollegiate meet held in Fredericton on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Jim first won the title in 1948 and defended it successfully in last year's meet, held in the Dal Gym. Unbeaten in all his amateur career, Jim is undoubtedly one of the top amateur heavyweights in the Dominion.

Week-End Drama Festival Success

The first Inter-University Drama Festival came to a very successful close with the final presentation of one-act plays by Acadia, Dalhousie, and Mount Allison Players on the time-honored stage of the Charles Fawcett Memorial Hall in Sackville, N.B., on Monday, March 6th.

Playing to small, but extremely enthusiastic, audiences at all three Universities the seeds of inter-university drama co-operation were sown and nurtured into flowering blossom. The main theme throughout was 'co-operative, instead of competitive, dramatic endeavor', and in the words of John S. Pauley, President of the D.G.D.S., "The Festival opened up new avenues of fraternalism, giving those who participated a keener insight into what might be achieved by co-operation, both on the campus and in the field of inter-student and faculty levels, with particular emphasis on the former."

Out of the Festival there developed a formally organized body to be known as the Inter-University Drama Festival, and the heads and directors of the three participating drama groups drew up a constitution of which the following are some of the highlights:

1. The aim is the furtherance of co-operative university drama by participating member universities.
2. Plays are to one-act, with a minimum cast, played with a background of drapes and minimum properties.
3. The presidents of the dramatic groups of the member universities shall form the executive of the Festival, and each president shall act as Festival Manager on an annual rotation system.
4. The Festival shall be held the first week-end of November of each year.

The preliminary draft of the constitution is being prepared by the Mount Allison Players and copies will be sent to each of the three founding bodies for consideration and finalization this year.

Campus Queen to be Chosen, and D's To be Awarded Tuesday Evening

The program for Munro Day has been released by Andy MacKay, Chairman of the Committee. Munro Day will take place on Tuesday, March 14, and will be the climax of extra-curricular activities for the year.

The morning will be free, and activities will commence at 1:30 with the Inter-fac basketball finals between Arts and Science and Engineers.

Arts and Science Hold Meeting

A brief meeting of the Arts and Science Society was held yesterday in the basement of the Arts Building for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Sophomore representative on next year's Council.

Previously Red Findlay and Robin McNeil were the nominees but the Council has declared that Red Findlay being a King's Student is ineligible although he will be at Dal next year. John Roberts received the nomination vacated by Findlay. McNeil's nomination stands.

Noel Goodridge then requested more funds for the recent campaign which had cost more than the society had allotted. No vote could be passed as this was not a regular meeting of the society.

Student Apathy Buried at U. of A.

EDMONTON — (CUP) — Amid the loud fails of student supporters, "campus apathy" was buried in the dejected surroundings of the University of Alberta last week. The feeling of the moment was illustrated by the funeral garbed supporters of the extinct university spirit at Alberta, who, led by the SAC President, bewailed the fact that apathy at the University long dead, was being buried by the faculty.

The service took the form of a funeral led by a ribbed "father of the Alberta faith". Three coffins, bearing the spirit of football, the spirit of the Mock Parliament which was banned two years ago, and the recently banned Gateway, were borne from the Arts Building of the Campus on a black draped truck.

D.V.A. Students

D.V.A. wishes to be informed by ALL PROSPECTIVE GRADUATES if they intend to continue their studies after graduation, for what reason, and in what field of study, e.g., education, graduate faculty, professional courses, etc.

Information may best be given by letter addressed to:
District Supervisor of Training,
Rehabilitation Branch,
Department of Veterans' Affairs,
Camp Hill Hospital,
Halifax, N. S.

DANCE

The Dalco will have a dance at Mulgrave Park on Monday, March 13. The music will be by Fred Covey's Orchestra, and dancing will be from nine to one.

At half time, the Boys' Varsity Hockey team will play the Girls' Varsity Hockey team in a hoop match. The Boys have challenged the girls to the game.

At 3 p.m., the quartette contest will start, with four entries to date.

The Campus Queen contest will begin at 3.45 and the girls will be introduced by their sponsors.

At 4.40 the Student Rink Committee will provide entertainment. There will be dancing in the Common Room of the Men's Residence from 5 to 7 p.m.

The evening will begin at seven with a speaker from the Alumni followed by the introduction of next year's council of students. The presentation of awards will take place at 7.15.

Holly Flemming and Gerry Barrett are in charge of the Munro Day Show, which will take place at 8.15, followed by the Crowning of the Campus Queen.

The evening will conclude with dancing from 9.30 to 1 to the music of Les Single's Orchestra.

Collection of British Books Now in Library

From March 13 to March 25 the display of British books sent to Canadian university and college libraries will be on exhibit in the reading room of the University Library. The books will be shown in two sections, one covering The Humanities, the other Medical, Pure and Applied Science. These books, which later are to be gifts to the libraries displaying them, should be of particular interest to students and faculty. Everyone is cordially invited to examine them.

Television Game Shown by U.B.C.

VANCOUVER—(CUP) — Television rugby games made their first appearance in the University of British Columbia Campus here recently.

The UBC Radio Society presented a television broadcast of a University of Washington-Notre Dame game to the students.

Over 150 students watched Washington kick off to Notre Dame from the comfortable lounge seats in Brock Hall, the students union. The Radio Society charges the students a fee of $1.50 for watching the performance, and netted about $10 after the rental for the set had been paid.

As a result of the large turnout, the Society intends to repeat the venture, if anything of interest on the campus comes up.

NOTICE

There will be a meeting of the Freshman class in the Chem Theatre on Tuesday, March 14, at noon.

MUNRO DAY

Munro Day is celebrated in honour of one of Dalhousie's greatest benefactors. It should be celebrated firstly with a feeling of gratitude for those advantages which we enjoy, and secondly with the gaiety which is only natural on the last holiday before final examinations.

Too often the day has been observed with little of a memorial nature. True, ceremonies have been performed and customs followed, but the extremes of celebration reached have overshadowed the more serious rites of the day.

We ask only that celebration be kept within reasonable limits, to ensure the maximum enjoyment for all members of the university, both student and faculty. We ask, too, that students attend all functions, not attending only those in which they themselves or a friend are taking part.

BIGOTRY

Last Monday night the Council of Students wiped the Arts and Science candidates from the slate to be voted on the next day. They did so because "Red" Findlay, at present a student at King's, was one of the two men seeking to represent the Arts and Science Faculty.

We should bow our heads in apology each time we pass King's College . . . if not for ourselves, at least for our Council. For every time we have accused King's of bigotry, we are doubly damned, since we have committed the sin ourselves.

Here we have a man whom we have sought as a member of our football and basketball squads. When King's objected that as a King's student he should play for King's, we rose in righteous wrath, claiming him as one of our own. Indignantly, we pointed to the Dal-King's agreement, and said "He can play for us if he so chooses".

No so, however, when one of our organizations wishes to be represented on the Council by him. Then we turn to our constitution and say, "He is not a member of the student body".

But if we examine our constitution more closely, we will see that not a section in it states that a candidate for the Council of Students must be a member of the student body. The relevant sections say only that he must be a member of the Faculty which desires that he be its representative. Mr. Findlay is a member of the Arts and Science Faculty.

We have also ignored the fact that the man in question will next year be a member of our student body. The relevant section of our Constitution entitled "Elections" (Article 6, Sec. 9) says: "Candidates for election as Council of Students' representatives must be such as will be registered in that Department or Faculty during the year in which they are to represent said department or faculty on the Council of Students". Nothing is said even about present membership.

In respect to any duty owed by Dalhousie to King's under the agreement, we should realize that no injustice is being done King's. King's will have no claim on Mr. Findlay's talents when he becomes a member of our student body next year.

So it is not because of any constitutional edicts, nor yet because we owe any duty to King's, but because of a bigotry which no longer entitles Dalhousians to see themselves as tin gods, which prohibits the Arts and Science Faculty from seeking the representation they wish on the Council of Students.

Letters To the Editor

Dalhousie Gazette,
Halifax, N. S.
Attention Editor.

In your edition of the "Daily Monopoly" of Feb. 28/50, we notice that page four carries a column by Al Bickersome in which the writer of the article deemed fit to criticize the Hydrostone Horseshoe Club inasmuch as their club news appears on the sport page of the local daily paper.

Just to keep this matter straightened out in the minds of your student body, we would like you to know that this argument has already been thrashed out as to whether cribbage should be listed as a sport or hobby, and, as far as the members of this club are concerned, it rates a heading under sports.

For the past four seasons, these winter cribbage tournaments have been patronized by the members of the club, as well as creating great interest to all followers of the game throughout the province. This, we can readily understand, would not be of interest to young men who are forging their way through college, but you must remember that once the university days are over, there are other things that come into the picture besides actual physical sports, cribbage being one of these where the brain is used more so than brawn.

To take part in one of these tournaments, one must be able to take it as well as dish it out, to smile when the going gets tough, and to keep trying even though chances of winning are almost nil. That constitutes a real sport and our membership is full of men of this calibre.

Seriously though, as soon as our new clubhouse is completed, we would be very pleased to take on a representative of your student body for a short series so that we could give you first hand knowledge of a real sport.

Yours very faithfully,

Egbert may be slow to take a hint, but he hits on all six where money management is concerned. He's not the guy to run short of anything either — not even gas on a quiet country lane. His financial reserve at "MY BANK" takes care of that.

Thousands of students from coast to coast are following Egbert's example. They're finding how easy it is to lay aside some of that cash from spare time jobs in a savings account at the B of M. They're finding, too, that a "fatality fund" is a big help when an emergency arises — like that damaged fender or an unexpected trip with the team.

As Others See It

From McGill Daily

Three monkeys sat in a coconut tree, Discussing things as they're said to be. Said one to the other:—"Now listen you two; There's a certain rumor that can't be true; That man descends from our noble race." The very ideal! It's a desire disgrace!	To leave her babies with others to bunk. And another thing you'll never see A monk build a fence around a coconut tree And let the coconuts go to waste, Forbidding all other monks a taste. Here's another thing a monk won't do: Go out at night and get on a stew; Or raise a club, or gun, or knife; To take some other monkey's life. Yes, man descended—the ornery cus, But brother, he didn't descend from us!

Campus Zoology

Recently we asked a learned zoologist friend to take notebook in hand and make a survey of the various species of animal life on view around the campus. From his rather voluminous notes we selected the following choice items:

The Alcove Bug, a nocturnal animal, invariably found in pairs. Frequents mainly Shirreff Hall but can carry on operations practically anywhere. Fond of dark corners and resents being disturbed.

The Card Shark, usually congregates in the Common Room where it remains the many hours each day. Forms groups of four at the slightest provocation. Often surrounded by a species of parasite known as "kibitzers". Used to be found in the Engineering Common Room before its activities were restricted. Numbers usually diminish around December and early April.

The Tiger, numerous varieties, depending on the season. Usually engaged in strenuous contests. One variety exercises daily on a wooden floor and is very lean and agile, often leaping high into the air with outstretching paws. Hunts in packs of five under a small but very cunning leader known as "Coach". This species is practically unbeatable in combat.

Another variety of Tiger is often seen at this time of year, and fights mainly on ice. Forages far and wide in search of game(s), even penetrating as far as Newfoundland. Chases a small round object over the ice for long periods (three to be exact). This species is very belligerent, and spends much time in confinement during its contests.

The Wolf found everywhere at Dal, where co-eds are to be found. When in the presence of the female of the species it develops a one-track mind and emits its mating call, a low undulating whistle. (For further information on the subject see the work of that eminent authority on wild life, Dr. Kinsey).

T-SQUARE

At press time, the names of the two Engineering representatives on the Student's Council, were not available, presumably on account of the tie resulting between two of the four candidates. The Engineers voted almost two to one in favor of Zwicker for president over the enterprising O'Hara.

Having reached the finals in the basketball playoffs, the Boiler-makers have two teams to beat before latching on to that championship. With Law disposed of, the team will be preparing for a sudden-death game, or a two-game total point series with the powerful Arts and Science squad.

The hockey squad remains consistent anyway; fighting for a place in the play-offs with Pine Hill, they went down at the low end of a 7-4 score. Considering the small amount of practise time available, the pucksters have done reasonably well under the circumstances, and the prospects for next year are fair.

With the Engineering issue (or part issue) of the Gazette not too many weeks away all contributors are asked to get their material in to Bill Adamson as soon as possible. This is our chance to make this issue the best yet, and contributions from any Engineer are more than welcome, the only requirements being that the copy should be readable and not too long.

NOTICE

Miss Cathie Nicoll, a well known Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship secretary, will be on the Dalhousie Campus the week of March 6-13. Those who made her acquaintance last fall will be happy to have the opportunity of seeing her and talking to her again. She will be speaking to students at the regular meeting of the I.V.C.F. on Wednesday, March 8 at 1:30 p.m. in Room 18. Everyone Welcome.

THE WAYFARER

by Noel Goodridge

A sudden turn of events last Sunday night made what promised to be a dull and perhaps meaningless campaign into a colourful, interesting and even more meaningless one. Greeting the few students who decided to turn out for Monday morning classes were hundreds of signs which seemed to indicate that there is a guy called O'Hara on the Campus. The colour and the humour of these signs got more votes for O'Hara than any sombre black and white posters could ever do.

Such expressions as 'O'Hara can give you a lift' and 'O'Hara has dandruff' had a great effect on the Campi. Appealing rather to the sense of humour than the sense of logic (what election posters do?) these signs which represent many hours of hard work turned O'Hara from a comparative unknown into a personality worth 416 votes.

Psychologically speaking, O'Hara's campaign was smart. It started at the eleventh hour—too late to be counteracted by the opposition, but late enough that its effect would not wear off before voting time. Furthermore it made the campaign conducted by Yours Truly look like a glass of luke warm water beside a whisky and soda.

Hard feelings almost arose out of the campaign. After O'Hara had been promised that none of his work would be sabotaged, someone went ahead and did just that. Some felt Zwicker's men did it; others accused O'Hara's men of framing their opposition. It appears now that a third party innocently intervened, his well wishing almost ending in war.

Anonymous phone calls also flew around in the smaller hours of the morning. The revelling caller said each time 'oVte for Zwicker'. The question still remains — who made the phone calls?

Roy Atwood is another institution at Dal who often goes unsung.

With very little aid from his eyes he conducts his bookstore in the Gym and the canteen in the Men's Common Room to the best of his ability. To satisfy all the students is too much to expect when he must operate from a small, dark room, but Roy does the job so well that he satisfies nearly all the students.

He has no written agreement with the University by which none may incinge upon his territory. He depends upon his small business for his living. It is unthinkable that anyone would set up competition which would endanger his livelihood. Few students would patronize such an enterprise.

Since his canteen service was shifted to the Common Room, he has been unable to sell meals. But with the decrease in business, there has been a decrease in his over head. Even Canada Catering Company have not hurt his business. He pays no rent for his premises in the Gym.

So Roy will carry on. When the new Arts and Administration building is completed, the offices in the West end of the Men's Residence will be vacated. These will, in all probabilities, be handed over to Roy that he may combine both his book store and canteen under the same ceiling. Pending of course that the Residence lasts so long.

The exam time tables are up and students will wander through Munro Day with a guilty conscience wondering if they should be studying. Recently a poet offered a bit of advice to college students which might be well to bear in mind . . . or is it too late.

Fie upon thee, little man
With thy slide rule in thy hand
Working at your charts all day
While your room mates drink and play.
Push aside your cams and charts.
Wise up, dodo, change to Arts!

The 1950 edition of the Dal boxing team will wind up training on Tuesday and entrain for Fredericton, the home of the University of New Brunswick, where this year's Maritime Intercollegiate Boxing Tournament will be held. The meet will start on Wednesday with the semi-finals in all divisions, and on Thursday evening the finals will be run off and the champions crowned.

Dalhousie will send a seven-man team to the meet; all divisions except lighthteavyweight. The boys have been working hard for the last two months, and all are in top shape for the grande finale of the year's activities.

Chief Coach Percy Paris, leading contender for the Maritime lightweight title, will accompany the squad.

DAVE RAMMASAR, Trinidad, B.W.I., bantamweight. Dave represented Mt. A. in last year's Olympic trials and went to the finals in the bantam division.

JOEL CHRISTIANSON, Halifax, featherweight. Joel is a former star on the swimming team and a P.T.I. in the Navy. He is the boy who amazed the crowds at the football games with his displays of gymnastics. A very solid citizen and a stiff puncher, Joel should do well in the tournament.

MURRAY DUBCHANSKY, Boston, Mass., lightweight. The most outstanding boxing prospect Dal has seen for many years. Although he has had no previous experience, Murray is a natural boxer and should be a cinch for Maritime honors.

ANDY BERNA, New Waterford, junior welterweight. Andy needs no introduction to followers of the pugilistic art. Two years ago, fighting for St. F.X. in the middleweight division, Andy lost a split decision to Ace Furlong in what was the best bout of the meet. Now, two weight divisions lower, he is in the best shape of his career.

JOEL MATHESON, Moncton, senior welterweight. Joel is another newcomer to Dalhousie. A former X-Man, and a performer for that University, he has improved tremendously under the guidance of Percy Paris. Two weeks ago, in the elimination bouts, "Juicer" lost a decision over capable Vaughan Baird of Winnipeg in a bout that brought the spectators to their feet.

GORDON MACDONALD, Marble Mountain, C.B., middleweight. Last year in the middleweight finals "Juicer" lost a decision to Allan Neil of U.N.B. In the elimination bouts he displayed great improvement in stopping Dave Nicholson of Halifax in the second round via the T.K.O. route, and then battled a three round exhibition with big Jim Cruikshanks.

JIM CRUIKSHANKS, Sydney, Maritime Heavyweight champion. Jim has held the Maritime title for the past two years and has never been beaten in a fight. Measuring 6'5" and weighing in at 200 lbs., Big Jim as also a star on the Rugby squad.

Accompanying the team will be Manager Don Kerr, former Varsity boxer and Silver Gloves champion, and Assistant Manager Gino DiGiacinto, both of Halifax. It is possible that ex-coach Jack Mc-
