Editor's Desk

After more than five years of editing the Society for the Study of Architecture in Canada's Bulletin, Don Lovell has passed the editor's torch (or, more accurately, his stubby red pencil) to me. I have been a faithful reader of the Bulletin for many years. I am now presented with the challenge of continuing the always informative, often entertaining and occasionally provocative format developed by Don over the years. I hope I am up to the task. I'll count on you readers, the heart and soul of the SSAC, to keep me true to the course so ably set by Don.

Lest you think old editors simply fade away, it is my pleasure to announce that Don Lovell will represent the Northwest Territories as a member-at-large for the SSAC. The new Board of Directors, elected in May in Vancouver, appears to the left of this column, along with the SSAC's members-at-large.

For those interested in the SSAC's excellent slide sets on the architecture of Alberta or Manitoba, these are now both available from:
