

LOUISE CARSON

SUMMER'S VOICE

—for Janice Barnes

Summer's voice is oil and turns easy the way a flower's resurrection turns from in here to the light outside

Light purple and I am happy when in fall it dies back to sticks that spend the winter in the basement

And the voice thins and hardens in this northern light perfect for waiting