DAL STUDENT BODY TO HOLD THEATRE NIGHT.

CAMPUS COMMENT

Attention Ripley! Astounding as it may seem one of our lowly Frosh came walking out after registration with a smile on his face and $13 in his hand. That smile is now being analysed by the psychological department for its quantitative value; the Commerce Dept. is considering where the $13 came from. Apparently the village policeman, Ebenezer, was not on his job. Tut, tut!

Here's to Mac our frenzied financier who waited until the last day of registration before paying his fees in order to get full interest on his money at the bank.

The depression is ever with us. Example—The Freshettes. They do look "cute though" in their little berets.

Hail the Froshes! who came to college resplendent in Varsity colours and had not yet realized that shades of "Archie" had darkened the Campus.

Who rang Shirreff Hall's Burglar Alarm? (Is that nice, Jimmy? Gee!)

Our upper classman, Morry Clennett, was observed enforcing his privileges on a six foot frosh. "Yes, sir."

Everybody has been commenting lately on the new coat of paint on the Dalhousie Goal Posts.

Our "Lester" was plucked in Sweeping 3—and no sup. Notwithstanding this he got high distinction in Moustache Growing 2" and a scholarship in Dunking 4.

Commodore MacIntosh has lost his pilot's license! One of our famous law students is to get a medal for life saving young MacIntosh from a watery grave. The only explanation seems to be that he wanted to park on the breakwater but forgot he was not in a canoe. Prominent coeds got their feet wet—cherchez la femme. There's a woman in every story.

The Minister of Finance in the Federal Gov't. was up at Studley the other day. We wonder if he was trying to balance the budget or has this visit something to do with tuition fees?

History of Dalhousie is One of Brilliant Achievements

DR. ARCHIBALD McMECHAN who has returned to the College after a year's absence. An article from his pen will appear in our next issue.

Graduates of Dalhousie University, scattered throughout the world have won fame for themselves and glory for their Alma Mater. New students may well be proud of the college of their choice and every old student is eager to live up to the high standard set by those who have gone before.

In all intellectual centers Dalhousie is recognized as being one of the greatest institutions of learning. A study of Rhodes Scholarship awards since the Great War reveals interesting data which is a credit to our University. In the thirteen years that these enviable prizes have been awarded, in the Post War period, twelve Dalhousians have been recipients of this high academic award. Of those twelve, ten were chosen as representatives of Nova Scotia, one as representing P. E. I., and one as an all Canada choice.

Much is expected of the man who is finally chosen to represent Nova Scotia at Oxford and his impression there is a true reflection of the University from which he comes.

Glee Club Puts on Variety Show

Arriving late the Sleepy Critic ambled into the Varsity Gym and found a quiet corner all by himself. The chances of getting a quiet snooze were pretty slim. As he arrived Donald Murray, the Man who wrote the Stein Song and Dalhousie Dream Girl, was playing much to the enjoyment of those over reading in the Library and those in the Gym.

The usual crowd of upper class cradle snatchers were on hand to look over the Freshettes. The Sleepy Critic wondered if they were disappointed. He was.

Doug Murray pleased the audience with several banjo selections which were well up to Doug's usual excellent performance at the Glee Club.

Janet Macneill appeared in a cheerful number which succeeded in rousing the Sleepy Critic to the point of clapping his hands and actually wanting an encore. If the Glee Club will guarantee a similar number every Variety Show the Sleepy Critic will bring smelling salts and etc and do his best to pay attention.

Art Patillo told the unsuspecting Freshmen to take an interest in Football and try for the team. What a chance! Then Charles X. Y. Z. Lorway urged them to yell. The old synthetic college eye-wash.

Well after all it wasn't so bad, in fact it was excellent when you realize the whole show was put on at short notice. The Sleepy Critic wishes the Glee Club every success and promises not to be too hard on them. And so to bed.

Journeying back on the road of time let us trace, from the beginning, the advancement of Dalhousie. In the year 1820 The Right Honorable George Ramsey, ninth Earl of Dalhousie, laid the corner-stone of the first Dal. building, situated at the north end of the Grand Parade. Rev. Thomas McCulloch became president of the institution when it first opened in 1838. For a time after the president's death the University remained closed.

A step towards the realization of the founder was taken in 1863 when the University having been reorganized, opened with a staff of six professors, under the leadership of the president, Rev. James Ross, D. D. Expansion followed rapidly. The Faculty of Medicine was established in 1868, Science in 1877 and Law in 1883.

Dr. John Forrest took office as President in 1885 and in that year Medicine was reorganized into an examining Faculty. In 1887 Sir William Young laid the corner-stone for the building now known as the Forrest Building, on Carlton St. In keeping with the growth of the college the Faculty of Science was organized in 1891 and the Faculty of Dentistry in 1908.

Dr. A. Stanley MacKenzie was appointed President in 1911. During his long term of faithful service Dalhousie more than kept her place in the enlarging educational world. By the numerous and ample gifts of individuals who desired to make the legacy of the past richer for their successors, our University expanded in all departments. Complete Medical Courses were

British Debaters to Meet Dal in Forensic Encounter

Squires and Hawco to represent the University.

"Resolved that this house approves of the efforts to make the British Empire an Active Economic Unit." Upon this issue a Dalhousie debating team will, on the night of Oct. 12, oppose a visiting team from the United Kingdom. The debate will be held in the Studley Gymnasium. All those exhibiting Student's Council tickets will be admitted free of charge. By reason of the preeminence of the participants in the art of public speaking and because of the economic conditions of the present time, the coming forensic encounter will in all probability be the most outstanding of the year.

Mr. Richard Squires and Mr. Leonard Hawco will represent Dalhousie. Mr. Squires is well known in debating circles at the University, being on numerous debating teams last year. Mr. Hawco, although having had considerable experience in debating, will represent Dalhousie, in a home debate, for the first time.

The debating teams are to be split. The result of this is that the first speaker will be a representative from the British team, leading the Affirmative. The second speaker, Mr. Howco, will lead for the Negative side of the issue, while the remaining visiting speaker follows as second speaker for the Affirmative.

The subject matter of the Resolution is of vital economic as well as political interest at the present time, since the MacDonald Government recently split, failing to agree on the trade agreements made this past summer at Ottawa. Here will be a chance to hear a topic of international interest and every Dalhousie student would be well advised to attend this coming international debate.

OBITUARY.

With the death of James Thompson, a familiar figure disappeared from the Dalhousie Campus. For ten years he carried on his task as fireman, in a capable manner. Mr. Thompson was born in Ireland forty-three years ago and came to Canada only a decade ago. The sympathy of Dalhousie students is extended to Mrs. Thompson and her child in the loss of a faithful husband and a good father.

A member of the Library Committee will be in Room 3, Arts Building at 5 p. m. on Wed., Oct. 5th to meet such students as are interested in discussing the problems of the Library insofar as they affect the student body.

What Use Are Fraternities on Dal Campus?

Editor's Note—This article is written in answer to a virulent but rather illogical attack made in the social column of one of our daily papers on the Fraternities and Sororities of Dalhousie. The Editors endorse the views herewith presented.

It appears this year, that there is a consistent effort being made to convince the incoming class that the "Wave" of Fraternity organization which has broken among the co-eds of this campus in previous years is not a "good thing." In fact, it is pictured to anxious parents as being a decidedly "bad thing."

The chief objection raised is the old one that Fraternities and Sororities foster cliques and all the snobbery that is implied in the use of the term. The same objection is raised by non-Masons, against the Masonic order, by one religious sect against another, by one class of society against the next; in fact, society seems to be made up of cliques of various sorts and sizes, each of which accuses the other of snobbery, clannishness, and gentis particularly true of the attitude of non-University people to the students and graduates of Universities as a class.

The ideal to be achieved within the University, then, seems to be that the students will be as one big clique, or to use a less obnoxious term, one big family. On a campus such as that of King's there is no reason why this should not be a glorious reality. By far the greatest part of the students are in one residence, living together with a common religious as well as scholastic interest. The group of women students is small, their residence is no bigger than many houses. Many of the girls have come from the same school. There is no reason why they should not remain a single united body. Fraternities here are superfluous to the point of being ridiculous.

The Dalhousie campus presents a very different picture. In the first place, there is a great split in the women students of "Town girls" and "Hall girls." This split is, unfortunately, a marked reality. Then within these two groups there are smaller cliques of girls from the same town, or girls from the same school when these have

I. S. S. NOTES

Last year a branch of International Student Service was formed at Dalhousie. Little more than organization had been accomplished before May 1st, but we intend to start work in earnest almost immediately. Those who wish to know more about us should ask for the I. S. S. pamphlets which are in the Memorial Library. More news about I. S. S. will be published very shortly; watch for it.

Garrick Theatre To Be Scene of Freshman Frolic

On Friday, October 7th, at 11 p. m., at the Garrick Theatre the Freshmen and Freshettes will present a variety show under the very capable direction of the Sophmores. The details of the show are being kept a dead secret, but everything points to a night of real fun.

Besides the stage performance, the show will include the comedy "Speak Easily," featuring Buster Keaton, Jimmy Durante and Thelma Todd.

This show is for Dalhousians and the friends of Dalhousians. Admission is by invitation alone. The invitations may be obtained from Dan Harvey, Jack Slayter, Bob McIntosh or at the Dal. Store.

Dalhousie Company C. O. T. C. to Entertain at Smoker

Tonight, Wednesday, the Dalhousie Company of the Canadian Officers Training Corps will entertain at a Smoker to be held in the Munro Room, Forrest Building at 8 o'clock.

This is an annual affair held to get together all those interested in the C. O. T. C., to have an evening's entertainment, and to make plans for the ensuing year. A splendid program has been arranged by Captain A. K. Griffin, Officer Commanding. A few short talks on military affairs and the value of a military training will be given by permanent force officers, and moving pictures will be shown during the evening.

Plans are being made for a week-end camp at MacNab's Island where a splendid opportunity awaits for rifle practice, tactics, and small arms instruction. This will be open to second year men and a limited number of first year men.

A special invitation is given to new students in the University to come and find out about one of the most important extra-curricular activities at Dalhousie. Come and bring a friend; grab a cigar and settle down for a good old chinfeet. It's free—and we'll be seeing you!

NOTICE

Will all students interested in Basketball, fill out the forms to be found in Mr. Stirling's office. Please sign these forms before Friday, Oct. 7.

SAILING ORDERS.

Sailing Orders have been received and under the command of a new Skipper and Mate, the Dalhousie Gazette embarks upon the stormy seas of another University year. A first-rate Crew has been signed on and everything points to fine sailing. Nevertheless, petty storms and squalls will be encountered and they will only be weathered by the combined effort of the entire Crew.

The Skipper and his Mate feel sure that the Crew will stand by them and all they ask for is hearty support, constructive criticism and general goodwill.

EDUCATION AND FEES.

We note with regret the alarming rise in fees at the University of Manitoba, and while we recognize the existence of an unfortunate situation there and the need for drastic action, it hardly seems justifiable or fair that the students should bear the brunt of the sudden financial burden imposed upon the University. But when such a situation appears within the walls of our college—when the fees are raised to such a great extent without the apparent existence of a pressing need, then the student should be entitled to an explanation.

It has been said that we "move in a world of qualifications and ironies." Just what are the qualifications for a higher education? Is real academic worth going to be given its true valuation or has a college education become the privilege and a pleasure open only to the wealthy? Many students this year have had to forego the training and advantages of a University career because of financial stringency. It must be remembered too, that summer positions formerly open to students have been closed to them. In the light of such things, and when we consider the fact that money is not as plentiful as it used to be, we feel that the action of those in authority has been ill advised, and entirely out of sympathy with the student body. Surely, if financial needs are so pressing, other means can be utilized than to thrust the burden upon the students themselves.

REV. DR. ROBERT NORWOOD.

Nova Scotia, and indeed the whole world, has suffered an irreparable loss in the death of the Rev. Dr. Norwood. As a brilliant speaker, he clothed his thoughts in simple but forceful words; as a writer he has left us a wealth of poems—teeming with simplicity and grace. Above all, he had a simple religion, and was true to it. He was a great personality who left his mark wherever he went—not a momentary flash of glory, but a deep, everlasting impression of sincerity, courage and manhood. He knew men and the ways of men, their strengths and weaknesses, their hopes and ambitions, and for them had a keen, sympathetic understanding. But he was able to meet all manners of people on their own level and speak with them in their own language.

Thus passes one of the greatest of Nova Scotia's sons. We will remember him as a preacher, poet, philosopher; and admiring the brilliance of his intellect, the wealth of his scholarship, we will cherish the memory of a loyal friend.

I. O. D. E. War Memorial 1932

In order to perpetuate the memory of the men and women who gave their lives in defence of the Empire in the Great War, the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire has established a War Memorial which should be of great educational value to the youth of Canada. Its leading features are Bursaries in Canadian Universities, Post-Graduate Scholarships (Overseas), and placing Historical Pictures in Schools.

Of interest to all Canadians and Dalhousians are the nine post-graduate scholarships, granted annually—one in each province of the Dominion—to enable students to carry on studies in British and Imperial History, the Economics and Dominion or any other subject vital to the Empire.

Each scholarship is to the value of $1600, for men and women. In awarding the scholarship, the Committee of Selection will consider academic attainments and promise and also personal character and physical fitness. Other conditions being equal, preference will be given to a returned soldier, his sister, brother, son or daughter.

Certain qualifications are necessary, viz: candidate must be unmarried; British born or naturalized; between the ages of nineteen and twenty-seven; must hold degree from a recognized University or degree granting College. Birth, health and character certificates will be required, as well as various reports and statements from applicant and his or her professors and teachers. Application must be made before October 6, 1932. Forms may be secured at the Registrar's Office.

COMMENT

A Socialist's Treat.

Central Europe.

German Logic.

A Socialist's Threat?—Central Europe—German Logic—

Mr. Elmer Davis, in a provocative article in Harper's, has taken the position that in the forthcoming election in the United States, the choice between Democrat and Republican is simply one of that between incompetence and incompetence. What then is the rational thing to do? Simply vote for Mr. Norman Thomas, the Socialist candidate. Mr. Davis is not so ignorant of politics as to have any hope that Mr. Thomas will succeed. His purpose is, that is if the Socialists can muster enough votes, to throw a scare into both the other parties so as to awaken them from their present apathy. However, it is difficult to see just why this plan should be able to accomplish that which no other or more rationally considered plan has been able to do, or just how Mr. Davis would set about getting that many votes for Mr. Thomas.

On Monday, the fifth of last month, there was opened on Monoon in Stressa, on the shores of Lake Maggiore, the conference which is to examine the economic reconstruction of Central and Eastern Europe. Among the problems facing the experts who have gathered there from seventeen countries are those of frozen credits, trade barriers and the agrarian situation. The Manchester Guardian correspondent writes that "The suggestion of quotas, coupled with a discussion of preferences, seems to indicate that the tariff reductions for certain agricultural products no longer finds any serious opposition, and that Europe's great Powers plus Czecho-Slovakia and Austria are ready to grant such preferences to the Agrarian countries. To those who have carefully watched the gradual slowing down of commercial enterprises in these countries since the war, it is encouraging news; it is to be regretted that matters had to reach such a state as they have before it was fully realized that preferences or quotas must be granted in Eastern Europe in order to make the Agrarian countries better markets for the industrial cities. Even now relief is by no means assured.

Germans have long been noted for their rigid adherence to the forms of logic. Even during the Great War there was a remarkable coincidence between their logical conclusions and their interests. However, the logicians of the Allies were not to be so easily duped and their arguments were directed at German premises much as the Allied guns were directed at German fortifications. But in the demand of Germany for rearmament it is difficult to pick a flaw in their arguments. Their Foreign Minister, Baron von Neurath recently said "We want equality and not an increase of armaments. We have waited now more than ten years for the fulfilment of our claim." Germany like France demands security, which to her means putting herself in a state of defence whatever happens. Here a new and dangerous situation is created because Germany on account of her geographic position cannot put herself in a state of defence, or security without rearming. In other words she must become what she was in 1918,—a great military and naval power. It is for the other nations to stop quibbling with words and to set a fitting example.

The Editors regret that, owing to unforeseen circumstances, the usual equanimity of the Editorial page has been disturbed. However the usual columns will appear in the next issue.

The Inquisitive Freshman

Elmer gingerly crept through the trees. He was guided only by very vague instructions culled from sundry conversations, and chinks of light between the trees. "That must be it" he muttered "Shirreff Hall, at last." He tripped over a log and sprawled in a clump of bushes. Pictures flashed rapidly through his mind—serious Seniors studying; gay Juniors curled up chatting and running here and there to talk; merry Sophomores busily scheming initiations; and Freshettes in bunches, showing bravado, but not quite knowing what its all about.

A series of piercing shrieks brought him to his feet with a start. He could peek through the open window now. His eyes opened widely and he gasped as a ghostly procession of weird figures marched by, while shaking freshettes, dressed in outlandish costumes clung together until prodded into doing stunts by relentless Sophs. The lights went out—laughing, screaming, running feet.

Elmer sank limply to the ground. "This can't be the wonderful Shirreff Hall" he said. As he was about to wearily drag himself home, very disappointed, the enticing odor of coffee reached him. The lights flashed on. Busy co-eds hurried back and forth with refreshments; some danced; others merrily chatted. Elmer stealthily stole away carefully brushing twigs off his coat and repeated softly to himself—B9746.

given in 1911 and the department of Pharmacy was begun in the same year. In 1912 the schools of Arts and Science were brought to Studley. The Library building was erected in memory of Prof. Charles MacDonald and munificent gifts in books and endowments have since been added. His Highness Prince of Wales laid the corner-stone at Shirreff Hall on Aug. 8, 1919, this residence was given by the late Mrs. E. B. Eddy in memory of her parents. The corner-stone of the present Arts building was laid by the late George S. Campbell soon after, the Medical Science building and the Public Health Clinic were erected along with a temporary gymnasium at Studley. Recently departments of Fisheries and Commerce have been inaugurated.

The King's College buildings on the Studley campus opened at the beginning of the 1930 term, a close association between Dal and Kings having been formed in 1923. In May, 1931 the temporary gymnasium was destroyed by fire. Plans for a new structure, for the combined purpose of Gymnasium, Theatre and Convocation Hall were immediately prepared and the corner-stone was laid, Nov. 10, 1931, by Hector McInnes, K. C. The building, an artistic asset to the Studley group, was ready for use March, 1932.

The destinies of our college are now in the hands of our able President, Carlton W. Stanley, B. A. (Tor.), M. A. (Oxon.), who took office at the beginning of the 1931-32 term. Thus reads the History of Dalhousie; long may she be proud of her graduates wherever they may venture. Remember—it is up to you to carry on!

U. K. C. Notes

Freshmen certainly get the breaks these days. A fine chicken dinner was given for them the other night. The President welcomed them to their new residence, and Professor Walker pointed out to them the traditions of their College, and urged them to fit themselves to uphold those traditions and maintain the standards of Kings.

Amid the threatening growls and moans of the upper classmen the freshmen were introduced on Wednesday night to the Residence Rules for freshmen. While the frosh displayed the proper deference, to their Seniors, the rules were intoned by the Grand Master. They were then bidden to give heed lest dire calamities befall them. Being an entirely submissive group, they were duly awed by the ceremony, and bowed to the will of their Seniors.

The upper classmen never get tired of bothering the lowly frosh. Thursday night they lined those timid ones up in front of the Co-eds residence and demanded an organized serenade. However, their attempts to harmonize on Sweet Adeline were squelched under the cold stare of the two freshettes who were called out for the occasion; and under the loud boos of the senior men.

The freshmen have been persuaded that early morning exercises on the campus are advantageous, mentally and physically. Under the gentle guidance of Vic Regan and Staff Tanton, they performed various setting-up exercises in front of the building before breakfast. Their probable intention is to get into shape for football, initiation, and other activities.

A Few "Donts" For Frosh.

- DON'T pay any extra fee to anybody; they are all collected in the office on registration day.
- DON'T buy out of date test-books—check up on the list in the calendar or the one given by your professor.
- DON'T pay more than 2/3 the cost for a second hand book.
- DON'T wander around the grounds unless in large groups; the Sophomores like "easy pickings." Hang together.
- TAKE your initiation as good fun; but DON'T be bullyragged.
- DON'T venerate the Sophs; the odds are that they're just as dumb as you are.
- DON'T accept lifts from unknown drivers—unless you want a ten mile hike; ignore anonymous telephone calls.
- DON'T reserve a seat in the Library or buy tickets for books—the books and the seats in the Library are free.
- DON'T wear a Dal sweater until after Initiation.
- DON'T bring any cars on the campus until after Initiation.
- DON'T forget to hide any eats (if you have any).
- DON'T forget that you are Freshmen.

The leader of the Australian delegation at the Ottawa Conference, and former Prime Minister of Australia, Mr. Stanley M. Bruce, recently arrived in London. He is well known in London, but this time he came in an entirely new capacity, that of the first Resident Australian Minister in London. Mr. Bruce has an enviable record as a statesman, and should bring credit on the country which has seen fit to entrust him with such an important position.

Among many people in Ireland it is felt that the financial system of the country may shortly be shaken to its foundation. The income from exports has been partly stopped temporarily and in part seriously diminished. Imports on the other hand, which consist largely of necessities such as wheat, coal, oil have not fallen off to the same same degree. There is not much doubt but that, in order to keep the country paying its way, the banks are seriously strained. Of course, it is difficult to frighten the penniless Irishman by this kind of talk. But the property owner, the successful farmer, business and professional men are differently affected.

The small farmers, who are property owners but whose holdings are very unremunerative, hold the balance and so far their vote seems to have been pretty equally divided. De Valera who is a tactician of the first water, has made it appear that the Cosgraveites have taken sides with their historic enemy, England. However, it is very possible that he has counted too much on this factor, and that those to whom he now appeals on this ground, will realize that England, like all other foreign countries, must be treated with due consideration.

"Speak Easily" at Garrick Friday

Next Friday night the Sophomore class have obtained the Garrick Theatre for a special midnight show in honour of the Freshman Class.

The main feature will be "Speak Easily" with Jimmy Durante; but a special half hour of entertainment will be given from the stage by prominent members of the Freshman Class. Come prepared for a riot. Come and give a real, old-fashioned welcome to our new boys and girls. There are surprises in store for all.

Nicks, Cotter, Ross star as records fall.

With a day that has become peculiar to the Sports the 4th Interscholastic Meet got under way at 10.15. The salute of the athletes was taken by Pres. Stanley, Mr. Hector McInnes, and Col. Thompson; all of the Board of Governors. In the orgy of record breaking that followed the outstanding star was Ross, H. C. A., who sailed out into the pit for a distance of 21 feet 3 inches.

In the afternoon the relentless onslaught continued with the H. C. A. boys in the van. Records fell so fast that an event being completed without a record being established was considered incomplete. The features of a day filled with features and sensations were the 440 yd. relay, mile relay, and the High Jump. The biggest thriller was the 440 relay in which the Halifax team of Anderson, Ross, Cotter, Nicks, trimmed a classy field to win by 10 yds. in 45.2/5 sec., a new Canadian record.

In the mile the St. John lead-off man picked up a large lead which their second man increased to about 25 yds, Cotter running 3rd for Halifax ran such a canny lap that he reduced the St. John lead to 5 yds, Nicks and his long stride soon were leading and H. C. A. won in 3.43. Through a mistake of an official the record was not allowed. The H. C. A. boys are to attempt to break the record officially this week.

The High Jump's eleven entries soon dwindled to a battle between Barkhouse, Thompson, Sullivan, Skinner, McLellan; the last two dropping out at 5ft. 3in. Thompson and Sullivan failed at 5ft. 4in. but Barkhouse went on and finally broke the record with a leap of 5ft. 6 1/2 inches. What a jump!

'70,000' Witnesses at Casino

Phillip Holmes, Dorothy Jordan, Charlie Ruggles and John Mack Brown head the cast of "70,000 Witnesses," a murder-mystery set on the football field, which comes to the Casino Theater on Thursday, October 6th.

The story has to do with the attempt of a gambling ring to fix a big football game by eliminating the star player of the favorite team.

They fix it so well that the star, breaking loose and en route to a touchdown in a clear field, is suddenly seen to stagger, stumble and fall. Physicians find him dead, with not a mark on his body to explain how he was killed—though they know it is murder.

The boy's teammate and buddy and a clever detective finally solve the case, however.

The tides are a fight between the earth and the moon. All water tends towards the moon, because there is no water in the moon, and nature abhors a vacuum. Gravitation at the earth keeps the water rising all the way to the moon. I forget where the sun joins in this fight.

What use are Fraternities?

been church schools there is the added breach of religious difference. There is a noticeable difference in the intimacy of the girls in one wing of the Hall, from the quality of the friendship with girls from the other wing, of whom they may see surprisingly little. Among the city girls there are the same splits. Girls from the same district, the same school, or the same church are in cliques before they ever reach college.

The women's Fraternities and Sororities on Dalhousie Campus are the most effective bridge across the Hall—City gap. Hall and city girls meet together in one group, in a common sisterhood. All schools, towns and sects are represented in these societies; and fraternity members are often surprised to find that the snobbishness which they may have ascribed to any group on the campus is astonishingly non-existent when members of that group join them as sisters. Membership in one sorority does not hinder friendships with members of another. Many of the most intimate friendships on the campus are between girls belonging to different sororities. It will be said that this type of organization is simply the substitution of one clique for another. This is quite true, but on Dalhousie campus it is the substitution of one clique for several others and the interests which bind the group together are broader and less apt to cause severance from other groups than those of the pre-established cliques.

Without any attempt to defend fraternities and sororities as such, (and there is much to be said for the social and practical training which they give to their members), it seems that on this campus they offer more opportunities than they destroy, for widespread friendship, and the development of a lasting interest and feeling for the University as a whole.
