Sodales Society Completes Plans For Very Active Season, States Secretary

First Debate of Year Scheduled for Wednesday Evening of Next Week

Facing prospects of an unusually active year Sodales Debating Society announces today that plans for the year's activities are almost completed and will be announced in detail within the next few weeks.

Following the first debate next week, the three competitions will follow for the Hon. R. B. Bennett Trophy, among the Arts and Science classes. The Junior-Senior will possibly take place about the end of the month, with the Freshie-Soph two weeks later and the final for the shield before Christmas. The schedule may be announced next week and the officers are hard at work making final arrangements. Last year Class '31 carried off the shield and are intent upon holding it. Whether or not remains to be seen.

"How to be happy though educated." Are you happy or have you never really sat down to think it over? Have you any views on the matter?

The first debate of the academic year 1929-30 is scheduled to take place in the Munro Room, Forrest Building, Wednesday evening of next week, October 16th, with four of the University's best known shining lights participating. "Resolved, that Education increases Happiness." Do you advance any views on the matter openly or otherwise? If so come down to the Munro Room next week and let's have them after these four have held forth on the matter:

Tom MacDonald will lead the affirmative and tell everyone present what a happy life it is after all for collegians. Tom is a well-known Pine Hiller and like so many other debating stars hails from Pictou County. Last March Tom led Dal's Intercollegiate Team against King's and everyone knows him to possess the ability to (Please turn to page 4)

University Head Welcomes New Students to Dalhousie

President MacKenzie Feels Confident New Students Will Live up to Obligations Established by the College Graduates.

To all new students—Here you come, another cohort of new Dalhousians, larger in numbers than ever. In the name of the Legion of Old Dalhousians I welcome you to service under the Black and Gold colours. Your joining us entails upon you an obligation to add new battle honours to be emblazoned on those Colours, which I have every confidence you will fulfil. As your President I give you a most cordial greeting, and desire to express the wish that you may grow to be as proud of being a Dalhousian as I am.

To returning students—We are glad that you liked this old University well enough to come back to its halls, and in the name of the University I extend to you a hearty welcome home.

A. STANLEY MacKENZIE,
President.

The Gazette Desires the Cooperation of all

The editors of the Gazette are making a big effort to put out a paper this year that Dalhousie can be proud of—and in order to do so we need the assistance of everyone in college. Don't keep those brain waves to yourself. Write your thoughts down on paper and send them in to us.

The new Gazette Office is on the first floor of Forrest Hall, in the office formerly known as the Students' Council Room. You are invited to visit us.

Moot Court Meets

On Wednesday, October 2nd, the Dalhousie Moot Court held its first trial of the season before the Court of Appeal, which comprised of Smith, C. J., Puddister and Dowell J. J.

The case tried was Dumb vs. Bell, which involved intricate questions concerning the title to land in the absence of a grant from the Crown and an alleged act of conversion of the wood on the property arising out of acts committed there.

T. C. Sedgewick, K. C., and G. Cowan, argued the case for the Appellant, and G. MacMillan, K. C., and G. Crouse, appeared on behalf of the Respondents. Counsel on each side conducted their case with commendable skill and ability.

At the close of the arguments Chief Justice Smith complimented the counsel on their showing and the satisfactory way in which they had dealt with the case. Judgment was reserved for consideration.

Following this civil trial, three verdant freshmen were brought before the Court and tried on various criminal charges of which they were found guilty. The Court then adjourned.

The next session of the Moot Court will be held on Thursday afternoon, October 10.

A SOPHISTICATED SOPH.

WELCOME

The Dalhousie Gazette extends a very hearty welcome to all

Freshmen and to all undergraduate Dalhousians who have returned this year to continue their studies. That each new student will be successful is our desire and we most earnestly hope that all succeed in making a high pass in every subject and every thing.

Ross New Pres.

A meeting of the Dalhousie Medical Society was held on Monday evening, September 30, in the Health Centre. The retiring President, Fred Jennings was in the chair.

The first business was the election of officers for the present year. Eddie Ross is the new 1st President and Leonard Farmer, the 2nd President.

John Budd was elected to the office of 1st Secretary and Bob Baird, 2nd Secretary. These four officers and Frank Hebb compose the new Executive of the Society.

Eddie Ross, the new president, is prominent in several activities. He is in charge of the Medical Book Bureau, an interne at Camp Hill, a football, basketball and hockey player of note and a member of the Medical Quartette. Bob Baird was appointed football manager for medicine in the Inter-faculty League.

Following the election of officers there was a short discussion after which the meeting adjourned.

Dents. Active

The Dalhousie Dental Society held their first meeting of the year on Saturday, Sept. 28th, in the Dental Theatre with George MacLeod in the Chair. About twenty-five members were in attendance. James G. MacCabe was elected Secretary-Treasurer to fill the vacancy left from last year.

Frank Duxbury, Hillard Clark and Erwin Taylor were nominated as candidates for the Student's Council.

The managers for the various athletics were chosen, namely—Joe Griffin, Mgr. Football Team, Murray Nicholson, Mgr. Basketball Team, Omar Taylor, Mgr. Hockey Team.

With the general enthusiasm exhibited by the members at the first meeting this year promises to be the most successful one in the History of the Society.

A very competent Social Committee was elected, one student from each year. L. C. Alanach—1st year, W. E. Taylor—2nd year, Frank Duxbury—3rd year, Ross Harrington—4th year.

After the regular business of the meeting was concluded, the meeting adjourned.

The Bye-election for the Students' Council was held Monday, Sept. 30th, with close competition among the three popular candidates. Hillard Clarke was elected by a majority of one vote over the other candidates.

The voting was as follows: H. E. Clark, 10, Frank Duxbury, 9, Erwin Taylor, 9

The D. A. A. C.

The D. A. A. C. is an organization formed many years ago to govern the athletic activities of the college. This organization forms an important part in moulding the character of the student, for we all realize that clean healthy outdoor activities keep the mind of the student keen and alert.

The D. A. A. C. undertakes the control of the various athletic activities of our college. It endeavours to produce athletic teams which will bring credit to the University.

In order to do this the support of every member of the student body is urgently requested.

Every student should turn out and cheer his team to victory. Begin the year right by giving the football team all the vocal support you can.

GEORGE MacLEOD,
Pres. D. A. A. C.

Tigers Capture Initial Rugby Game From Army and Navy Aggregation

Clyde Townsend Scores with Five Seconds to go. "Kybo" Ross turns in Splendid Performance on Three-Quarter Line.

Loose kicking and many inopportune fumbles on the part of the Dalhousie Tigers nearly cost them their opening game of the City League with the United Services on Wednesday afternoon, at Redland.

Special Football Edition next Tuesday

On Tuesday next the editors are making a special effort to bring out a Dal. Football Edition. This will contain the complete details of the Dalhousie-Acadia game at Wolfville on Saturday, football stories, special pictures, a review of the team and articles by prominent rugby enthusiasts. Don't miss this issue

Dance Enjoyed

One of the most enjoyable Student Council dances given for the past few years was held Monday night in the gymnasium, with Joe Mills and his orchestra in attendance. The dance, an annual affair is one of the premier social events of the season and this year it lived up to all the expectations.

For the evening the rigid rules that the incoming class has been forced to comply with were laid aside and Freshmen and Freshettes entered into the spirit of the dance with the same Dalhousie spirit that was exhibited by those who were there before and those who have already passed through the University. During the evening, Mr. Fred Jennings, President of the Students' Council, this year made a very suitable address in which he extended a hearty welcome to all new students.

The very capable committee in charge of the affairs comprised the following Council students: Miss Frances Elkin, Thomas Goudge and Donald Grant, and the guests of honor for the evening were Professor and Mrs. Murray McNeil, Miss Margaret Lowe and Dr. Maxwell MacOdrum.

The next Dalhousie dance will take place Monday night, October 14.

Time and time again the collegians threatened to score but until the dying moments of the game they seemed to lack that something which is a prerequisite to the piling up of a satisfactory count.

Although the game had all the earmarks of an opening fixture, many sensational plays were evidenced on the part of both forwards and back field players.

With five seconds to go Clyde "Tidy" Townsend, husky Dal forward, went over for the only try of the game. The score started from a service on the navy five yard line.

The work of "Kybo" Ross on the three quarter line was one of the brighter aspects of the contest. Ross playing his first game in a senior uniform, impressed the spectators with his persistent doggedness and heady gains.

"Reliable" Archie at fullback played his typical game which speaks for itself.

Dal lined up as follows:— A. MacDonald, fullback; E. Bartlett, Ross, Scott, McLeod, (Capt.) three quarters; H. Sutherland, A. Sutherland, Davidson, halves; Baird, C. Townsend, MacRae, Wolner, Wishart, T. Townsend, Tanton, forwards.

Special Prizes

The Gazette will give two theatre tickets to each of the two students submitting the best letters on either aspect of the following question, "What stand should Dalhousians take toward the forthcoming plebiscite?"

The letters must not be over one hundred words in length and must be in the hands of the Editor not later than October 18th.

This is the closing date of all hostilities between first and second year men. The committees in charge have completed all arrangements and by all indications this year's Freshie-Soph dance should prove to be like the Students Council's on Monday last the very best.

President Jennings on Behalf of Council Welcomes New Class

Principal of Student Government Outlined in Message to New Students of Dalhousie—Urges Activity on Part of Students.

Notice.

Has any student a copy of the booklet entitled "Dalhousie University, Halifax, N. S." by A. Stanley MacKenzie, being a description of the University and the buildings which is a reprint of the article which appeared in the Royal Canadian Architectural Magazine— If so we would be most grateful if they would bring a copy of it into the University Office.

Class Presidents

MEDICAL NOTES.
New Class Presidents.

The medical classes have elected their class Presidents for the present year. Lew Miller was re-elected in the fifth year. Roy Moreash is president of the fourth year class. Frank Hebb was re-elected in the third year. The second year has chosen Gordon McCurdy and the first year Harvey Hebb.

October 7, 1929.

Fellow Dalhousians:— At this time it is my duty and pleasure to extend a welcome both to the returning students and to those who have entered the university this year for the first time. Coming to Dalhousie you become a part of the student life and a participant in its many activities. As the wellbeing of the body as a whole, and each separate part of it, depend upon the efficient co-operation of the parts and a true balance in their numerous activities so also, the welfare and "tone" of the student body and of its different members depend upon the efficient co-operation of its members.

The Council of Students, the student governing body of the university, has been elected by the students for the benefit of the students. Its members represent the students in all their activities and problems. Co-operate with and make use of this body. The duty of its members is to serve you and they will appreciate interest in their activities.

The university year has begun. Now is the time to become active as a member of the student body of Dalhousie. Don't put it off.

FRED C. JENNINGS,
President Students' Council.

Thrice Welcome.

The Dalhousie Gazette in this, our first issue of the 1929-30 session, takes great pleasure in welcoming back to this institution two former professors, who were very popular with the student body. They are, Dean Sydney Earl Smith, of the Law School, and "Big Jim" MacDonald of the Department of Commerce.

The new Dean of the Law School, appointed last spring to fill the position made vacant by John E. Read, both studied and taught at this institution in the Law School. He left a few years ago and has since been on the staff of Osgoode Hall, Toronto. While at Dalhousie he made many friends amongst both students and professors. He is warmly welcomed back to old Dalhousie, and the Dalhousie Gazette wishes to congratulate him on his appointment as Dean of the Law School.

Professor James MacDonald was a lecturer at the University two years ago in the Department of Commerce. He is greatly interested in athletics and a real booster for the Department of Commerce. After leaving Dalhousie he spent a year at the Harvard School of Business Administration, and a year on the staff of St. Francis Xavier, Antigonish. Dalhousie is indeed fortunate in being able to have "Big Jim" back again.

Congratulations.

Professor Angus L. MacDonald has recently been appointed Associate Editor of "Dominion Law Reports." This is a distinct honor to both Professor MacDonald and to the Dalhousie Law School. It is a great pleasure to have Professor MacDonald back at the old Law School again. He was granted a leave of absence last year and spent the time at the Harvard Law School continuing post graduate work. "Angus" is one of the most popular professors at Dalhousie. A young man deeply interested in the study of Law, his appointment as Associate Editor of "Dominion Law Reports" is timely and well deserving.

It is interesting to note the contribution the Dalhousie Law School has made to the Dominion in providing an editor for the "Dominion Law Reports," Vincent MacDonald, Associate Editor, Angus L. MacDonald and the Associate Editor of the "Canadian Bar Review," Dean Sydney E. Smith.

The Student's Council.

The Student's Council held its first meeting for the term on Tuesday night of last week.

As this was the initial meeting of that august body the part taken by the various members was watched with more than usual interest by the student body.

One factor which in the past has impeded the progress of the Council, was fortunately eliminated this year, when the members found among their number one who was thought by all to possess the qualities of leadership.

In previous years when the presidency was hotly contested, the followers of the defeated candidate invariably formed themselves into an obstinate opposition whose judgment in subsequent debates was influenced rather by the dictation of an injured personal pride crying for revenge than by the true merits of the case in question.

The unfortunate consequences are quite obvious and with the elimination of this handicap, sound unprejudiced decisions are expected during the coming term.

The Gazette wishes the Council the highest possible degree of success during their year's work.

Welcome Freshmen.

Another year has rolled around. To some of the older students it is just one more year of vacation and study, while to others it is another year of study and vacation, but to you who are entering the University for the first time it is probably the beginning of the biggest year of your life.

On the progress made along the varied lines of endeavour afforded, a great deal will depend.

Those who during the year allow themselves to follow the lines of least resistance, will in nearly every case, find at the end of the term that they are thoroughly incompetent to pursue further the career which they had originally intended to follow.

A University is comparable to a Hospital and regardless of the condition of the person entering a certain amount of improvement is possible, but only with the untiring and hearty cooperation of both patient and doctors.

The Dalhousie Campus and the City of Halifax comprise the hospital building, your professors and good companions are analogous to the doctor and nurses who are primarily interested in your welfare.

Potential retarding influences are to be found on every hand, ready to attack the Freshman of low resistance.

The cure rests entirely with the patient.

Let us all be Dalhousians of which our college can well be proud.

The 1929 Reunion

After all, emotion does play an important role in the daily life of every age, even in the highly sophisticated and scientific Twentieth Century. The awakening of slumbering memories, the revisiting of old familiar scenes, the renewal of the sacred ties of friendship, all these are strong in their power to stir up poignant emotions, carrying men, for a moment, away from the pressing grind of everyday existence. It is good, now and then, to recall memories of loyalty, of earnestness, of carefree happiness, it is good to pay tribute to heroism, to remember and honour those who have passed beyond the threshold of life. That is the reason for all reunions.

The three days of the recent Dalhousie Reunion, the 28th, 29th and 30th of August, were crowded with interesting events, very capably organized and thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. The two most important events of college life—Registration and Convocation—were symbolized on the first day. Every visitor was required to register with "Murray" or one of his assistants. Then the gymnasium revealed itself in a new aspect. Familiar enough in its changing guises—one moment arrayed for a dance—the next, cleared for physical drill and games—happy when sneltering an enthusiastic meeting of Glee Club, horrible as the House of Examinations, it certainly was a surprise when it was arranged for a huge luncheon party. An extremely capable committee of Alumnae served an excellent lunch. Later a special Convocation was held outdoors. The brilliant gowns of the Faculty gleamed against the lovely background of grey stone buildings, green shrubbery and velvet lawns. Honorary Degrees were conferred upon a number of men, all prominent in Canadian affairs and deeply interested in the progress of Education. Most notable among the group were the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister at Washington and Rt. Hon. William Phillips, U. S. Representative at Ottawa. Both gentlemen delivered extremely interesting and gratifying addresses, recognizing the position of Dalhousie as one of the "Big Four" universities of Canada. A number of simple, yet beautiful tablets were unveiled, to the glorious memory of Dalhousians, who gave their lives in the service of their country. After the Convocation was formally closed, a Hodge-podge supper was served on the lawn beside Shirreff Hall, there everyone gathered in the grove for a sing-song, which was broadcast all over Nova Scotia. A huge bonfire, tended by a fiery Imp, warmed the evening air and lighted the happy faces of Dalhousians, young and old, who following the stirring lead of Mrs. Pearson's orchestra and chorus joined in the old favorite Dalhousie songs.

Next morning the Reunion-ites marched in procession, class by class, from the Carleton Campus, out Coburg Rd. to Studley, where the cornerstone of the new Archives Building was impressively laid by Hon. E. N. Rhodes. This ceremony marked still another step in the growth and importance of the University. In the afternoon, under the blue sky of real Dalhousie weather, the Dalhousians enjoyed a delightful harbour cruise on the steamship "Farnorth" and watched seaplanes rising from the water, circling around and settling again like huge, silver gulls. In the evening the gentlemen held a successful smoker in the gymnasium while the ladies enjoyed dinner and a musical programme at Shirreff Hall. The remarkable menu was so typically Dalhousie that it deserves mention.

Alumnae Sweets.
 Jack's Scotch Broth.
 Cnicken au Stan.
 Pommes de terre d'Archie.
 Legumia Havardia.
 Herbie's Emerald Isle.
 Murray's Demi-Tasse.

The third day of the Reunion found place for a Track Meet, and a visit to H. M. S. "Despatch," as well as varied and enjoyable individual class reunions. The whole success was brought to a triumphant close with the Ball, at which a record number of guests danced on the polished floors of Shirreff Hall.

If the Dalhousie Reunion had done nothing but freshen and enliven men's hearts, it would have fulfilled its purpose, but it accomplished far more it brought together old friends, it forged the links of new friendships, and above all it redoubled the devoted loyalty and generosity of Dalhousie's sons and daughters to their Alma Mater—proving more than any words can prove that Dalhousie really possesses "College Spirit."
 A. M. P.

Dalhousie Sixty Years Ago

It is pleasant at times to be reminiscent, and call to remembrance the men and events of bygone days.

Old Dalhousie, the stone building which fronted on what is now the City Hall Parade, for a number of years well suited the purpose for which it was erected. Many prominent and distinguished persons were educated within its class rooms.

The Principal of Dalhousie sixty years ago was Rev. James Ross, D. D. He also held the chair of ethics and political economy.

Professor John Johnson then, as for many years afterwards, instructed the classes in Latin and Greek.

Professor Charles MacDonald was always well pleased with the boys who were good at Arithmetic and Geometry. A sarcastic remark from him generally had a stimulating and salutary effect upon the student, who had the hardihood to enter his class with unprepared work.

English and History were the subjects taught by Professor James De Mille. Before beginning his lecture to the first year class, he usually called upon a couple of the students for a brief review of the lesson given on the preceding day.

Professor William Lyall lectured on Logic and Psychology. When the essay of any student pleased him, either in the style of the composition, or the way in which the subject was treated, he would sometimes state the fact to the class, mentioning the student's name.

Dr. George Lawson had the double professorship of Chemistry and Botany. The Botany lessons were especially for the medical students; but others, who wished to attend, were always cordially welcomed. Dr. Lawson was an enthusiastic botanist, and the author of a monograph on Canadian Ranunculaceae.

Mr. Lichti, the instructor in modern languages, would occasionally remind any of his class who seemed to be lacking in diligence, that if they wished to do well at the sessional examinations, they must be prepared to hand in good papers.

In some of the early issues of the Dalhousie Gazette appeared "Donald Angus," the story of the college experience of a very verdant and unsophisticated freshman. The author of this amusing sketch was D. C. Fraser, B. A. '72, afterwards a distinguished lawyer and Member of Parliament, and later the Lieutenant Governor of his native province, Nova Scotia.

The "perpetrating of puns," when a favorable opportunity occurs, is a common thing among students. This was the case at Dalhousie sixty years ago. So much in vogue then was the punning practice, as to cause a little adverse criticism. To this W. P. Archibald, B. A. '72, replied in the Gazette in an article in which he ably supported the side of the punsters.

One of the most popular and brilliant students, that ever graduated from Dalhousie, was James Gordon MacGregor, B. A. '71, M. A. '74. He was for a number of years a Professor at Dalhousie, and subsequently at Edinburgh University. At both of these institutes he rendered eminent service.

Among the students of conspicuous stature in those days was Archibald Gunn, A. & S. '71-'76. Tall and broadly built, like Saul, the son of Kish, of Bible times, he stood a head taller than any of his companions. Concerning him Rev. Dr. Burnes of Fort Massey Church, Halifax, once remarked to some of Archie's Pine Hill classmates:—"We have no canons in our Church; but we have one big Gunn."

Time has made many changes since 1869. All the professors of that date are gone. And most of the students of that period have finished their allotted course, and been called away from the things of times.

A few, well advanced in years, still remain. These are scattered throughout the Dominion, from the Atlantic sea-board to the Pacific coast. A few also are residing in the United States.

We, who are nearing the end of our earthly sojourn, greet the students of a later generation, and bid them be loyal to old Dalhousie, and ever keep in mind, and put in practice the noble motto of our Alma Mater,

"Ora et labora."

WIN A LITERARY "D".

Practically every branch of activity at Dalhousie gives a letter award to students complying with the requirements set down for it's particular "D". Every student should try and acquire at least one of these awards.

The Literary "D" is given to every student who earns twenty-five points for writing in the Gazette during his or her college career. Each article submitted for publication is judged by the awarding editor and given the award which it merits.

This year we are innovating a card index system for this phase of our work and at any time during the term you have merely to call the Gazette office to determine where you stand.

Make up your mind to win a much coveted letter. We will give you the utmost co-operation.

SOCIAL NEWS.

KELLY'S COLUMN

"There's a poor boob from Barbadoes living away up on North Street."
Blotto—"Poor fellow—stew bad. He'll find it kinda cold up there—couldn't he find a room on South Street."

To-morrow Dalhousie makes its annual invasion of Acadia—every man, woman and child that can hire, buy, steal, a means of transportation will make the trip. Let's "give 'em the axe" this time, Dalhousie.

Philosophy 1 has the biggest attendance on record. Local stationers report hundreds of request for mottoes for hanging over beds: "Negative propositions distribute their Predicates."

The following have been taken for Freshmen by newcomers so far this year Big Jim Macdonald, Sidney Earle Smith, Hilton Paige, Dr. Todd.

Chief Justice Smith at the Criminal sitting of the Moot Court deplored the fact that a terrible Crime Wave had spread its gruesome wings over the Freshman Class—several prisoners were convicted of outrageous crimes. What will our young people be doing next—

Betty Macdonald has been asked 19 times why she hasn't her stockings rolled down and a green hair ribbon in her hair.

All Quiet On The Studley Front

A Truism of College Life

(All Rights Reserved)

The rain has fallen all day. It is very wet. Haligonians say they have never seen such weather. Krumpf, Knickerbaum and I are tired. We have waited a long time now. But there are forms to fill and fresh volunteers from Lunenburg are not smiled on by the registrar. His lieutenants walk briskly to and fro, motioning to us to fill out the wretched papers this way and that way.

I am tinking, what brings me to this mad house. I am young, just 17 and have left a good home to plunge myself into this. But what matter now— It is over. Three long hours I have wrestled with the forms. Surely they have found out everything they wish to know by this time.

Ahead of me I see a great line of men. There are women too, but very few. Krumpf is discouraged, but Knickerbaum says there are more in other classes. It is good.

The signal comes for us to move on. Knickerbaum is in no condition to go through with this business. I say as much to the lieutenant behind the row of papers. But he merely grunts and tells us to get in line. Bahl! he is a Pictonian. Knickerbaum leans on me.

There are many in front of us but we finally reach the general.

He is seated at a great desk. He reminds me of our magistrate at home. His little spectacle case is on his desk, so is his curling stone paper weight. Knickerbaum is afraid—his knees tremble and his face is yellow. Knickerbaum was always a coward.

"Courage my comrade," Krumpf is comforting him now.

I see and hear all this. I am younger than most but I am not afraid. Ever since I left home and boarded the Halifax and South Western, I have trusted myself to fate. What matter now?

"Next!" the general cries. It is our turn now. Yes, we have our papers. What? They are all wrong? Knickerbaum is in tears—he is not well, poor fellow. We are reprimanded. We are told we are raw recruits. But at last we are passed. The general is not a bad sort. But there is worse ahead.

An old soldier tells us we must contribute to the fund—he says we must follow in line.

A man ahead faints. There is a cry but it is soon hushed. He is carried out. Outside there is an excited shout but the echo swallows it up. All is quiet once more. Yesterday, we are told, they carried out three like that. I sigh, but this is college—we must not rebel at it.

Krumpf has his grandfathers watch. He gives that and his money as security. But I have little. Cheer up, I try to tell myself. I know a place on the lower part of the town that will accept good shoes in pawn. And I have good shoes. Knickerbaum has plenty—but is relieved of it quickly.

Chapter 1933.

A whole week we have drilled now. Mahon has told us we are sick children with weak stomachs, not to stand up to all the lectures and drills. But we are sick of it. I long for home—but would I be better off? I wonder. There is little left now but go on—and then there is the enemy to face.

Today we were told to go to the gymnasium to get our uniforms. A big, gawky, red-haired Sophomore handed them out. Krumpf snatched his from him with an oath. We hate him. He is the worst disciplinarian in the Sophomore army. At noon we munch our meagre rations and talk about him. Our quarters are dismal but we are half happy—this week we move on to go to work. We shall be under the Profs. now. And we do not clash with them till Christmas.

Our uniforms are wretched. Tight pants held fast at the bottom with rubber bands. Over our head is thrown a white cloth. We are branded. A huge green F tells people to what ranks we belong. Some stop us and sneer. Others just smile. But we have no time to linger in the paths. We must run between buildings. The clash with the Sophomores is to-night.

Another wretched night. Early we pack up and start for the gymnasium. There are hundreds of freshmen swarming to get in. The sophomores are inside.

I am thinking "Why do men hurry when they know what danger lies before them." Perhaps they don't know. Perhaps they don't think. But anything is worse than this sickly mess. Dirty, grimy hands paw all over me. I am shoved. The whole thing sickens me. Soon the door opens and I am shoved in.

They blindfold me and take my name. I can hear Knickerbaum cry out in terrified yells. They beat me and I am made to run. But the whole thing seems simple to me now. Yesterday had one of them hit me on a Lunenburg Street I would have struck back. It is different here.

They plunge us into water. Even Krumpf is afraid for he is next to me and I hear his unsteady breathing.

We are tossed in air, four times, they throw us upwards to please the on-lookers, who shout with joy. In quieter days, down on the docks, I have lazily sat around and read of the gladiators in the Roman arenas, who sacrificed themselves to give amusement to the onlookers. But there is no time for musing. I am swept away to be thrown round and round on the end of a rope. I am dizzy and sick. Why should I be made to go through all this? But I am not alone. College is a terrible thing.

I groan. They put ice on my chest and burn meat in front of my nostrils. But they don't fool me. I am young, but these last few days have taught me much. Now they are pouring salts into me. I gulp. The whole thing is nauseating—distasteful. But I must go on. We are locked in. What shall be next. We do not know. I care little now.

Later, we are pushed out into the night. At the other end of the gymnasium I see more of our men still trying to get in. "Fools!" I cry. But this is life. The night is black. A fog surrounds us. "Poor rats!" I think, all is at an end now. But soon a Sophomore appears. It is the red-haired gawky one who gave us our uniforms. He orders us to the truck. We get on and he tells the driver to start the motor. He jumps on.

I look around. "Krumpf, Knickerbaum!" I shout. But they know what I mean. The red-haired disciplinarian is at the back of the truck. There are many dirty puddles on the road. Suddenly the red-haired Sophomore is pushed off—he lands in one. The truck rolls on. Soon we come to bright lights. It is a down town street so we get off, and we disband.

Looking 'em Over.

Looking 'em over I'd say there're one of the finest Freshman classes I've seen in years—but the scarcity of Freshettes is a big handicap, in fact so much so that the President of the Council of the Students has intimated (unofficially of course) that he is not interested in the new crop of women. Truly the old order changeth.

"Hello, there! How are ya?"

"Hello, How are you?"

(fumbled hand shake)

Awkward pause.

Together in unison— Had a good summer?"

"Yea."

"Yea—"

"Swell to be back, ain't it—"

"Yea!"

"Yea—"

"What are ya taking, any English—"

"Naw—finished up six classes in that dumb stuff last year. Guess I know enough to land a poet laureate job or something."

"Yea—I kinda like English myself. Guess I'll be a writer or debater or something."

"Yea—Yea that'd be swell for you—well see ya some more."

"So long."

"So long."

Registration.

Murray Macneill: "Next." Junior (From force of habit) Just trimmed up a bit—not too long. While you're working on me I'll probably feel like dozing off—but don't be alarmed I always feel like that when I hear you talking. Not too close a shave, now be careful. I'm in no mood to be trifled with—and my eyebrows—no not today—I'll stand for no plucking—now remember—no plucking."

In looking over the Freshman list I see we have another Lysons Atwood. Apparently Dalhousie will never forget Jack, Lysonsed Fire Fighter, who time after time was awakened in the midst of his slumbers in the Law Library and called to extinguish the flames in Forrest Hall. Welcome Lysons Jr. may you someday succeed your noble brother as Fire Chief.

Questions and Answers.

Dear Editor:—

Did Mrs. Eddy have match making in mind when she bequeathed a sum of money to be used by the University in the erection of Shirreff Hall— Sincerely, "Curious."

Curious:—

Most certainly not. Statistics show that a large number of our undergraduates were capable of establishing a satisfying illumination prior to the erection of the Hall.

Dear Editor:—

What new material has the football coaches to work with this year— Football Fan.

Dear Editor:—

Did Hoot Mahon make any mention of that pre-election tuck shop promise of his at Tuesday's meeting of the council? (Sgd.) A Supporter.

Supporter:—

No but probably he is not entirely to blame. The chances are that he "canten" get the council members to discuss the idea.

Editor Dalhousie Gazette.

Dear Sir:—

Is it true that one of last year's Freshmen still thinks that the "Jones Act" refers to that lovely touchdown scored by Charlie Jones in the game with Mount A? (Sgd.) Eye wanna no.

Dalhousie Fans Confident of Successful Football Season

Four of Last Year's Team Away This Term—Splendid material on hand to help compensate for loss.

Once again Dalhousians plunge forward into the football season and once again both students and faculty await with feverish impatience to see Dalhousie match wits and brawn with that of her formidable adversaries, Wanderers, Acadia, and United Services.

A check up on last year's team, shows that, although our losses are few in numbers, they are indeed great in importance. Men such as Captain Bill Wickwire, Ronald Irving, Cutie Smith, D. Campbell, all of whom helped the team so much last year, will indeed require eager energetic men to fill their places.

But as the boys turn out day after day to be rounded into shape under the careful instruction of Dr. Kirk McClellan and Prof. McDonald, it is with a feeling of confidence that Dalhousians survey their aspirants to football glory. Among the outstanding forwards are Baird, H. Townsend, Woolner, Wishart, C. Townsend, McRae (last year's team members), Tanton (a new man from Mt. A.), Cooper, Templeman, Magonet, C. Miller, Muscat and others from whom a heavy, fast forward line will undoubtedly be formed. In the backfield we find Captain G. McLeod Archie McDonald, Jones, Art and Harvie Sutherland, Vance Maxwell, Hewatt, Eddie Ross, Davidson, Bartlett, McNeil, Fraser, Scott, Stoddart, Purtle, Goss, Drover and many others. Of these, Bartlett, McNeil, Drover, Stoddart, Purtle, and Goss are, although new men at Dal., well known to every follower of rugby in the Maritimes, and much is expected of each and every one of them.

Thus, with a casual glance at the available material, why shouldn't Dalhousie look forward confidently and proudly to the coming rugby season?

Just a closing word. The above mentioned boys and many others are doing their best to build up the best team of which the college has yet boasted, by putting pep, hard work and co-operation into the practices. It remains only for each and every student to avail himself and herself of the golden opportunity of supporting their team. Attend the games and encourage the boys!
Remember, it's up to you!

Dal. Debaters to Meet U. N. B. at Fredericton

Debates with U. S. Teams in the Spring—Sodales elects Officers for Year.

The 1930 Intercollegiate debate of Dal is to be against the University of New Brunswick, at Fredericton, some time during the winter. This will be Sodales' first meeting with U. N. B. since 1925.

There is a possibility of another debate this year but only the most scanty information is at hand. The Secretary received a wire from Percy Davies, Secretary of the N. F. C. U. S., University of Alberta, last week:

"HAVE EXTENDED INVITATION TO TWO UNITED STATES DEBATERS TO DEBATE CENTRAL AND EASTERN CANADA JANUARY AND FEBRUARY."

and now you know almost as much about it as anyone else. However, we expect to hear more in the very near future. Last year men from British Columbia, Alberta, and Saskatchewan arrived here on March 1st., and the year previous Ernest Howse was sent across the Dominion to the Pacific Coast with Mr. Paul of Acadia and Mr. Fulton of U. N. B. This 1930 tour we expect to be of a like nature, and Sodales will no doubt be hosts to the U. S. A. men.

In addition the League of Nations, last year held under the direction of Prof. R. A. MacKay and independent of Sodales, may this year be held under the auspices of the S. D. S. Whether or not will be discussed at the initial meeting next week.

In addition to these activities regular debates will be carried on at Sodales throughout the winter months. Officers for the current year are:—

President—Ernest M. Howse, B. A. Vice—President—Helen G. Williams '31 Secretary-Treasurer—R. Gordon Harris, '31.

Dalhousie Girls Prepare for Very Active Season in Sport

Ice Hockey to be Included in D. G. A. C. activities for coming year—Inter Cass Games to be held before Intercollegiate Series.

Girls' sports at Dalhousie in the past have consisted chiefly of Basketball and Ground Hockey. Slowly, however, more interest is being taken in other branches of sport, namely, Track and Field, Gymnasium—such as Badminton and Fencing, and Ice Hockey.

We are anticipating inter-class competition in Badminton and Fencing and of course in Basketball. For the last there is a silver cup donated by Mr. Stirling and at present held by the Girls of Class '31. The inter-class games will be held this term, before the Intercollegiate series. By popular demand there will be a Beginners Basketball team this year.

The advent of an Ice Hockey team will be welcome news. For two years the girls have not had a team, but now Tillie Grant is the manager and things are going to hum.

Track enthusiasts will be interested to learn that the Dalhousie Girls were the hostesses at the annual Maritime Women's Track and Field Meet held in Halifax this summer. The Meet was very successful despite the fact that there were very few Dalhousie girls participating. During the summer two of the girls won their Track "D's", Jean Gardner, and Helen Williams.

hold a crowd by making even the dullest topic interesting. But this is not one of those!

Margaret Jubien, former Vice-president of this year's seniors, will make her initial bow before a Sodales audience but all Delta Gamma knows her powers when it comes to speaking. Supporting MacDonald, Marg will tell you how easy it is to feel happy in spite of innumerable Math. classes and no doubt will bring forth many of her brilliant ideas on the subject.

Ben R. Guss, worthy leader of the Opposition, will, as all of Sodales' old supporters know, be right there with his sparkling wit and ironic remarks to set the audience thinking in earnest on the topic of the evening. Ben is somewhat of a brilliant lawyer and three years ago spoke against St. F. X. for Dalhousie at Antigonish. A former editor of the Gazette, present member of the Council and Committee of Nine, Ben is among the best known and most popular in the University. We assure all the freshettes it'll be a treat alone to hear Ben next week.

Lillian Sadler, member of last year's Intercollegiate team which met Acadia in Halifax, will support Guss and complete the quartette which will open the year for Sodales. Lil is a popular resident of the Hall and many a time has been heard to advantage before Delta Gamma.

And then it'll be your turn. Sodales conducts its meetings on the Oxford plan, we might explain to the newcomers, and at the conclusion of the four speeches anyone in the room is free to voice his or her opinions. And they do—sometimes as many as twenty in an evening. This is your opportunity to get up and say a few words—don't be shy because no one else ever is!

Ernest Howse, President of Sodales this year, will be in the chair and an evening of lively enjoyment is assured you. Freshmen and freshettes don't miss this first meeting! If you come to one you come to all because you'll want to.

Don't forget this event on Wed. p. m., October 16th, at 7.30.

W. Graham Allen, John Budd, Don Murray, and Ralph Morton are busy working on an all-original, all-talking, all-singing, all color, musical review. Something had to be done to off-set the Talkies. This show will be produced at Glee Club early in November, weather and the big man of the Glee Club permitting.
