Hornstein On Weather

Would you like to be able to look into almost any girl's eyes and tell weather? Do you want to take the blame for this week's unseasonable cold wave? Would you like to be praised for a series of delightfully sunny, warm summer weekends? Such is the lot of a weather forecaster and Canada's Meteorological Service is keenly interested in recruiting science graduates into its ranks. graduates into its ranks.

The weather affects every Canadian and every activity carried on by Canadians. Consequently, mete-orologists are now being found in an increasing number of fields which are largely unrelated except for their weather-sensitivity—avia-tion forecatsing, atomic research, industrial air pollution engineering, television programming, aircrew instruction, naval meteorology— and, oh yes, the poor character who reports: "Tomorrow, rain and

To fill its numerous vacant positions the Weather Service is subsidizing graduates at the rate of $225 a month while they take post-graduate study in meteorology and then offers salaries of from $3060 to $5200 per annum upon the completion of formal studies.

A continuing need is foreseen and undergraduates who would like to learn more about the qualifications required to become eligible for a career as a weatherman are invited to "MEET YOUR WEATHERMAN" by contacting Rube Hornstein at 3-8314 in the Dominion Public Building.

tavern recently when the Snail came out with what was considered to be an attack on the Tavern's justification for existence. The Bartenders' Association is reported to have taken exception to the statement that "Iron bars a prison make" and "roll out the bar-rel", the latter statement being taken to mean that the Snail was in favor of wilding the city of all tayong. of ridding the city of all taverns and bars, including race bars, sand bars, chocolate bars, soap bars and Naturally the Snail denied any such meaning in its statements and pointed out that the story had been written to fill up space in the paper and had not intended to do injury to any one. The Editor of the Snail is reported to have received 147 letters from irate readers.

The Snail even received one letter from a medical student who said that when a publication "departs from news reporting and expresses ideas, it ceases to be the voice of the students".

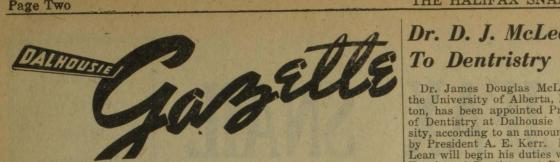

However, after all the hubub has died down it is expected that the sun will still rise tomorrow and that the taverns will still be operating in spite of the noise that was made about the Snail's story.

In Los Angeles, after traffic violator Elmer G. Noe told the court "Even though I was driving with one arm around my girl friend, everything was under control," the judge retorted sharply, "Young man, I was young once myself. Everything cannot be under control in those circumstances."

The member from Sable Island stated that in his constituency, there was little fog and an excellent grounding for runways. Besides these qualifications, Mr. Crew pointed out that amphibious landings could be made on Sable Island as there is an excellent lake in the middle. Besides the lake, the smooth and calm Atlantic Ocean surprising surrounds Sable Island. In concluding his proposal, Sforge Crew stated that it would be to Nova Scotia's interest to build the airport in Sable Island as it would bring more publicity to that all ready famous Isle. He also stated that the province could develop a new Five-Year Economic Plan. His proposal was to build a Halifax-Sable Island Bridge and then Nova Scotia jockeys could develop the famous Sable Island ponies, running them a short distance each day on this bridge. The government promised to look into his proposals and stated that it was very likely Ontario or American interests would be willing to purchase Nova Scotia's fine theretely as there is an excellent lake in the interests would be willing to purchase Nova Scotia's fine thoroughbreds. As for the airport, the Government assured the Opposition it would urge the building of a Halifax Airport and it promised that it would be in Halifax County. > Dalhousie Alumni Office, Halifax, N. S., March 9, 1953.

To the Members of the Graduating Class of 1953 Dear Member of Class '53,

Since your years as a student at Dalhousie are drawing to a close, may we, on behalf of the Dalhousie Alumni Association, offer you sincere good wishes for success in your final examinations, and a propitious beginning to your chosen

With these good wishes may we send also an equally sincere and warm invitation to continue your association with Dalhousie through your membership in the Alumni. As a member of the Graduating Class you will be receiving an invitation to attend a Buffet Supper followed by the Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association on Tuesday, May 5th. We realize that at this time of the year you may not wish to attend a business meeting but if you are interested you can be sure that your presence will be most welcome. We believe too that even in the excitement of Graduation exercises you will enjoy good food and the companionship of your own classmates and members of the Alumni, so we shall expect to see you at the Buffet Supper.

In extending this preliminary invitation to you we wish to advise you also that the Executive had decided at a recent meeting that membership in the Alumni Association should be free to all graduates in the first year after graduation. All that is required is your interest and energetic participation in the activities of the Alumni Association, whenever

Finally in closing may we assure you that while the Alumni Association may not have appeared to be entering very closely into your activities as students, nevertheless we have watched with deep interest the many phases of your college life and have shared in your triumphs and disappointments. We ask you to remember your own needs as students and by entering into the work of the Alumni Association. guide us in answering those needs for the students who are coming after you.

Yours very truly,

Maurice E. Keating, President, Dalhousie Alumni Association. Florence I. Wall, Vice-President.

Dr. James Douglas McLean, of the University of Alberta, Edmon-ton, has been appointed Professor of Dentistry at Dalhousie University, according to an announcement by President A. E. Kerr. Dr. Mc-Lean will begin his duties with the Faculty of Dentistry at Dalhousie at the opening of the fall term in September.

Although a young man, Dr. Mc-Lean has made a place for himself in the National Dental Organization in which his work brought him to the attention of Dean J. S. Bagnall. Since 1949, he has been chairman of the Canadian Dental Association's Committee on Ethics and has won high praise for his contribu-tion from well known leaders of the profession. He is a member of the Alberta Dental Association, the Edmonton and District Dental Society in which he has served as director and secretary, and the Western Canada Dental Society, being chairman of its Speakers' Committee for this year's conven-tion. He comes to Dalhousie with the cordial commendation of members of the Council of Education of the Canadian Dental Association.

Survival of The Species

In October 1952, Plantology I again left the Forest to come up to the sunny plains of Dudley where it found more sun and clearer air in the stale egg theatre.
Again, Ring Dem Bells met all the descendants of the plant kingdom in the theatre and as usual on the second day of classes he knew all the classes, names, and life histor-ies of each little male and female flower.

After three months of nourishment, some of these little flowers were still spindly and Ring Dem Bells decided they needed some weeding out and transplanting. He decided the dullest place to carry out this experiment was beside a football player in the lower gym, and the most suitable day was Monday, January 5, 1953.

On January 6, 1953 at 8.55 a.m., all the Survivals of the Species met at the stale are theatre where met at the stale egg theatre where they met Dr. Pelutt. This was an experience which simply shocked these little flowers of Ring Dem Bells, so they, to the amazement of all, evolved into various stages of frogs, worms and crawlfish. There was also one little fellow who made a 4th Division and he only evolved to a starfish.

These various species first learned to Disss-sect each other and they were told by Dr. Pelutt never to say Die-sect because Vebester learned to pronounce syllables in English 2 away back in 1300, and be didn't went to say the description. he didn't want to corrupt the de-

Dr. Pelutt's second speech consisted in the teaching of a method in how to win a Chewing Gum Contest. On this day some little pigs demonstrated the way to chew gum and Dr. Pelutt told each member of the species always to not to Forget to bring 2 packages of gum to class each day because it was good to develop Acquired Characteristics.

Days and months passed and soon Dr. Pelutt had 3 days left be-fore the Table Time showed that the Animals Of The Zoo were to splash their cap fools with Dia-phragms. During this time she taught them all about the strings you sew together to make a pair of Jeans to be worn to square dances. She warned all the females that is, The Fitest of The Survivals, to be careful when they were looking over the Animal Husbandry. Her Famous last words were "never say DIE—always say DISSS-SECT and you will not have to write a LEMENTARY exam on a Board in the GYM".

HOODOO GOES TO COUNCIL

As the thirteenth yearly meeting of the Council opened, Hoodoo Simpson, one of the town's pious and freethinking citizens, sat at the right of "Old Railroad". In keeping with established southern democratic tradition the Council was made up of those citizens who never disagreed with "Railroad's" farsighted town planning. In fact "Railroad's" greatest principle was "Spend the people's money where it will do me the greatest good".
"Railroad", a big man in a brown suit, smoking an expensive tobacco, leaned over the desk and glowered at the councilmen and council. at the councilmen and councilwomen.

"Well, how shall we spend the citizen's money tonight", he said. "Railroad" was always very discreet on money matters. He smiled benignly on the members. The council, who were always ready to act as a check on frespending replied in a chorus plied in a chorus.

"Whatever you suggest chief!"

"Well it has brough to my attention by a number of the citizens that the property lots on either side of my house are in need of landscaping". "Railroad" was always ready to act on the suggestions of citizens.

"I move the council appropriate two thousand dollars to landscape the property next to your house". The council men had seen his duty and he done it. He beamed at the

Harvey, deep in the Bible Belt, can boast of many things but its greatest claim in contemporary history is its fine and noble leader, that champion of democratic right, Filibuster A. Carr. Because of his uncanny knack of being to get any bill past the Council he was more affectionately known as "Railroad" Repartment and the Town Dead Loss Department, square the cube Loss Department, square the cube of half the remainder, split the infinitive, eliminate the logus on the bogus with a three percent bond issue and then contribute the interest to charity and then the money we save on Income Tax we could use to re landscape the "Railroad" Carr wrung his hands "Railroad" Carr wrung his hands in despair. Hoodoo looked anxiously at the Chief to see which way the wind was blowing before he said anything. Hoodoo believed in the old political maxim "The Lord helps those who help themselves"

"Are there any other questions", "Railroad" asked blithely.

The council, however having decided for themselves that they would be there all night if they made an issue of the thing said nothing so that after a few words of consolation from the "Old Rail-road" they all voted in favor of improving the lot.

As the council departed "Railroad" took Hoodoo by the arm and asked him if he felt that they had acted rationally.

"Well . . . ", he started to speak.

"Good, Good, M'boy, I knew you'd like seeing the Council at work".

So Hoodoo left the meeting and wandered slowly homeward, thank-ing his lucky stars that he lived under a progressive, enlightened and democratic form of local government.

veloped in Canada with the coming of the automobile. It is a game known as "Push you Fools, Push", and is a relatively simple affair which involves pushing a car out of a snow bank. The players are divided into two teams, the driver of the car versus those trying to push the car out of the snow.

The pushers are allowed to take up the following position, two rear fender men, a right hand side man and a right hand front fender man. The pushers are not allowed to speak but are allowed to conscript any passers-by to help them. The driver of the car is allowed one assistant if he wishes, the assistant's job being to shout instructions to the driver such as "O.K. gun'er", or "Cut the wheels right (or left".) The driver's assistant is also permitted to reach in occa-sionally and jiggle the wheel if he sees the car is about to get out of

Under normal conditions the pushers are considered to have lost if they are unable to get the car out in an hour but any foul language on the part of the driver immediately concedes a win for the pushers, who are entitled to leave at that point if they wish.

Competition in this sport is so keen that drivers are known to buy sleek lined new cars so as not leave any hand grip on the body of the cars for the pushers to use, but the pushers have in turn encouraged the use of tire chains to even the chances. Any driver using chains is considered a real sport.

CANDID COMMENT * * *

Culled from the College Campus

ALAN MARSHALL, Collector

There has been little to distinguish the Monday before the second Tuesday in March, in years gone by; except that it usually sees groups of students arguing over Campus Queen Candidates. This Campus Queen Candidates. This year, it was different. Here is some campus comment on the day of confusion.

Kingsman: Some joker did it; I don't know who. I missed by economics class.

Coed in Arts: I don't see why the signs weren't taken down sooner. Most of the kids weren't here till five to nine; and the signs weren't taken down till nine thirty, or so. I think the staff should have taken them down sooner. I am certainly curious as to what group did it. I was annoyed, though, because I missed a class. I was taken in by Law Student: I wasn't there. only heard about it afterwards.

King's Coed: It should be done more often. I think it was a very clever idea.

Arts Professor: I had a nine o'clock class. There were more students there than I thought would be, after hearing about it. There were about twent-five or so students there, out of a class of about seventy-five. I gave the regular lecture, and the others will just have to get it up, that's all. A typical undergraduate trick.

Science Coed: I was disgusted. I missed my math class. If a person wants to miss a class, that's one thing. But to make others miss theirs, too! I think it was in very poor taste.

Engineer: We heard about it Tuesday. We thought it was a good

Arts Professor: I think those were hoaxed who wanted to be hoaxed.

Arts Coed: I don't think much of it. There were a lot of sturents who came in from Bedford and Dartmouth, and then missed their classes. If they ever find out who did it, I think they should be expelled. Students coud have gone home for a long weekend, had it not been for the lectures on Monnot been for the lectures on Mon-day. Then this comes along, and they missed their lectures too, and therefore wasted their whole weekends. It's not a bit funny, just stupid.

Law Student: Nothing much hap-pened here. Most of the students came to classes and had classes anyway.

lecture room door. I think that clinched it for the students. But things were going by ten o'clock. I think the idea must have occurred to scupper a nine o'clock class, be-cause the secret was bound to be out by ten. I wonder if the stu-dents realize the cost of this. Every lecture costs them up to fifty cents or so.

Butsy O'Brien: I took those notices down, on orders from Mr. Theakston. They were all over the

And do you know who did it?) Ah no; that's the sixty-four dollar question.

President Kerr: This is a very old trick. Nothing new in it at all. I am told that it had all the earmarks of authenticity. So it seems to have been very skillfully done. What it comes to is that a few students have perpetrated a trick on their fellow students. It is the student body who suffered from it. So much for the comments.

Whoever did this appears to be whoever did this appears to be keeping quiet about it, at least for the time being. Some suspicion has fallen on the engineers. I suppose some think that it is just the sort of thing they would do. Also, they have access to the blue ribbon typewriters. Some of the engineers are aware that the or engineers are aware that the engineers are suspected, and have denied responsibility for it.

Certainly the case against the engineers is very weak, unless more evidence comes in. The Glee Club has been suggested too; the idea being that they wanted to avoid missing any classes during their trip to Truro. This is unlikely, because the hoax was bound to be discovered before it would be of any use to the Glee Club. Also, it is unlikely that any students are so cold blooded as to perpetrate this hoax on utilitarian motives. It looks like devilment pure and simple. In this case, your guess is as good as mine.

It has been remarked that what made this trick so striking is that nothing like it has been done at Science Professor: The janitor must have been fooled by the notices, because he didn't unlock the luetely impossible to get back at him. Certainly it was very clever-ly done.

ATLANDHICKS VICTORS IN LOW SCORING TILT; "LAZY BUCK" NETS 3,000th

Last night the Halifax Atlandhicks stormed to another decisive, demanding, degenerating, demoralizing, de lucky devils, 21-20 victory over Charlottes Town Potator while an all out appeal to the other make an all out appeal to the other make an all out appeal to the other favorites to cop the series and the Pickers in a pickle pringled precise presumptuous presumable pretenti-ous pretense prehistoric game (pardon the expression) of hockey played in Spud Gardens. The Pickers held the edge for the first thrill packed, exciting, exaspera-ting minute of play coming up with 9 picture play goals. As a matter of fact that's why they scored, the Halifax goalie was busy posing for pictures.

It marked the fourth defeat this week for Charlotte and her boys, they dropped three to the blind school junior varsity squad earlier, and are now fighting desperately to hold last place in the league standings.

Willy Batson was the big gun for Halifax shooting one goal and 19 assists plus two pigeons in the rafters for a 20-point gain. He was on the ice for 10 goals only but his thoughtful teammates voted unanimously that he be given the 19 assist to improve his point total. The one and only (thank heavens) Whit Bucklock managed to maintain his scoring lead, picking up 11 goals, 5 assists and two garters from the second balcony. There was great rejoicing in Spud Town when old "Red Line" potted Town when old "Red Line" potted his seventh goal, it was his 3,000th in two and two third years of league play which really displays the excellent calibre of our glorious Maritime Society Hockey Coach Maritime Senior Hockey. Chamber Lane was so happy that he told his lovable scorer that from now on all he had to do was backcheck to his own blue line instead of the center ice red line. That saves the poor lad thirty feet of skating energy.

Directly after the contest the Atlandhicks returned by submarine to Halifax and were honored at a tea party at the home of Mrs. P. U. Gartons (Gartons spelled back-wards is Gartons spelled back-wards). Some of the lads brought Keith along to liven up the party and Keith was so lively that jolten Loe Japine was carried away (in usual style) with the excitement. Cunie Hampbell, Huckle Mollett, Kank Fing and Filly Bord poured.

The funeral of referee Charlie Bad will be held tomorrow after-noon from the home of Stringbean McPole at sharp 2 p.m. A recep-tion will be held immediately after everybody invited, please bring your own refreshments. On the humble toomstone the inscription the last season games we wish to make an all out appeal to the other hockey leagues in Canada as we do each year this time. Will you please send us some more of your cast offs next season so we can continue to enable the various ice makers here in the Maritimes to make a living? We would appreciate it very much if you could send some players for a change because one more year like this and we will have to pay the people to go to the game and as pear to go to the game and as near as our experts are able to figure out such a case may very well be somewhat of a financial flop.

HOW GREEN

Next year the old saying "that Dalhousie has green athletes and men" will prove false. After much men' will prove false. After much consideration of the question, the Faculty and Physical Education Department have announced that next year the word green will have a new significance. All Dal athletes and men will be fed on Chlorophyll! Chlorophyll!

The decision was released this morning and much relief has already been noted on the sports' front. After considering Michigan and other American looniversities, Dalhousie decided to top them with the use of this new drug. Besides synthesizing proteins and extracting the famed rays of the sunshine, the green "stuff" will completely deodorize the famed Tigers, paws and even tails.

The Faculty announced that the Biology department in connection with the Department of National Research has found an inexpensive way to produce the powerful green pigment and its use at Dalhousie

LARGEST FLEET IN TOWN

Tomorrow afternoon starting at 1 p.m. sharp, the Dal Girls' Varsity Basketball team will take to the floor in the local Gym to do battle with a squad from U.N.B., which will decide the Maritime Intercollegiate Championship.

Last weekend in Fredericton the favorites to cop the series and the title, so lets see everybody out tomorrow to cheer the team on to victory. The locals took top honors last year and are more than capable of a repeat performance.

Crabbers

During the last year, we have heard much criticism about referees in basketball, hockey, squash and radishes. Every complaint seemed to be unjustified and every complaint offered no solution. Per complaint offered no solution. complaint offered no solution. Recomplaint offered ho solution. Recently, however, some overly bright lunatic did give a solution to the problem. His proposal was very fair, especially to the teams with which his Institution played games. The Institution's lunatic proposed that his own Institution train referees in order that the usually poor erees in order that the usually poor referees from other Institutions would not further ridicule the sports and players at his Institu-

Now just bear with us for half a column, and consider his pro-posal. On first thought it is high calibre of a lunatic and on final thought it still remains insane. Heavens, if every Institution es-tablished training schools for referees, half the interest in the sport would be gone. Nobody would bother coming to the games if he knew that a fellow lunatic would be refereeing the contest. Another consideration should be that it would be unfair to the visiting Institutions. The poor boys from the other Institutes would have a hard time understanding the sells have time understanding the calls, be-cause every Institution has differ-ent types of characters.

It thus seems hard to believe that a proposal to train referees in each Institute would not only be too expensive but also insane. Our proposal is to leave the referees alone (in solitude) and perhaps after two centuries, sporting fans in Nova Scotia and the Valley will realize that the happy whistle boys are not as insane as they are.

MAKING UP LOST TIME

Due to some kind of a mysterious oversight the Dal Medical Society failed to gather very much publicity this year in the sports de-partments, that's what they tell us anyway. Since this is the last edition we see it only fitting that any lost time be made up, so here goes

The annual Acadia-Dalhousie Engineers basketball and hockey series came to a close last weekend in Wolfville with a trophy going to each University. Acadia won by a decisive margin in the basketball series while Dalhousie did likewise in the hockey series.

Dal went on the basketball floor with a 13-point deflicit to make up in the two game total point series, losing the opener here in Halifax a few weeks ago by a 40-27 margin, and after a slow, somewhat ragged game Acadia held a 66-32 victory, winning the series 106-55. Reid Murphy was driving hard at all times for Dal with Gordie Weld also showing up well on the Dal also showing up well on the Dal attack. Jack Clark was the driving force behind Acadia, netting 29

In the hockey contest the Dal transit men seemed a bit unorgantransit men seemed a bit unorganized for the first two periods but settled down in the third and left the ice with a 7-3 victory in the game and a 19-7 margin in the series. The line of Gaye Johnson, Al Kelso, and Chuck Johnson accounted for four of the seven counters, with Gaye Johnson potting every one. Gordie Hill netted the other three on neat passing plays with Steve Pefhany. Playing coach Johnny Fitch received the coach Johnny Fitch received the handsome trophy from Mr. Bernie Cain immediately following the contest.
