

Presentiment

I lean upon the gate of dawn to watch my future day wind through the fields of noon to where the green hills turn to grey.

My thoughts are cool as leafy stir in maples overhead — but from the nooning fields a wind of hot words not yet said.

— Gilean Douglas