

SU CROLL

HE WAKES UP

he wakes up
like everyone else
in springtime

when I rake away ice
brown leaves layered under snow there he is

the beginnings of lilies
and oregano
rooting with crocuses

my father
already flourishing in these first few hours of uncovered earth