EDITORIAL

The death of the Honorable Mr. Justice Drysdale, until recently a member of the Supreme Court Bench of Nova Scotia, marks the passing of one who was for some years very closely associated with the life and work of this university. Commencing about the year 1910, he was for several years a valued member of the Law Faculty, and, there, as in other walks of life, at the Bar, in public affairs, on the Bench, he proved himself an able man. An incisive intellect, well balanced and of quick perception, coupled with great reasoning powers, distinguished his career from beginning to end. His life is an outstanding example of the success to be attained by a man in his native province, where the late Mr. Justice Drysdale occupied during sixty-five years many positions of prominence and responsibility. We regret his passing and express our sorrow at his sudden demise.

Complete official registration figures for this academic session will be found in another column of this issue. Each year finds this great institution of Dalhousie growing stronger and fulfilling in a greater measure its mission of higher education. Gradually the number of students is increasing; figures are cold and unemotional but even to the most cynical mind the fact that there are now registered at this university seven hundred and forty-nine students must create a certain feeling of optimism.

Thousands of graduates of years gone by who are occupying prominent positions in the intellectual world about us, will hear with pleasure the glad news that their Alma Mater continues to prosper. While numerous other colleges and universities report a decided decrease in attendance, due in part, perhaps, to the general depression that has prevailed throughout the country, it is certainly gratifying to know that there are almost forty, thirty-seven to be exact, more students registered this year than in 1921. A notable fact, too, is that no less than one hundred and sixty-six young ladies are in our midst. Facing this whole student body is the task of maintaining the standards erected by our predecessors who have proven their worth and brought honor to Dalhousie. In our hands rests the future of Dalhousie; accept the responsibility and discharge the duty in a manner that will reflect credit on both students and university.

A momentous conference of representatives of the universities of the Maritime Provinces met in the city last week. This conference considered the proposed federation of universities, the plan to consolidate the entire forces of higher educational effort in Eastern Canada, and placed the stamp of approval on the suggestion of the Carnegie report that the establishment of a central seat of learning at Halifax would solve many of the difficulties now being faced by the separate units. It would also promote the advancement of the educational system in the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland to a stage level with that of the greatest institutions on the American continent. The principle of union has been accepted, and while it remains for the details to be worked out, the prospects for attaining the objective seem exceedingly bright.

Another point approved by the body was that which dealt with the establishment of, in addition to the denominational colleges, a non-sectarian college. This proposal was very favorably received by the representatives.

Government representation of Newfoundland, which is taking a great interest in the proceedings, is an indication that the Ancient Colony, which now sends many students to the Maritime Institutions, may embrace the federation scheme and give it substantial support.

AERO PHOTOGRAPHS OF BATTLE AREAS

Valuable Collection Presented to Library by Captain Roper.

Notable among recent additions to the MacDonald Memorial Library Collection is a selection of aeroplane photographs covering operations of the Canadian corps in France, and sectors held, from 1915 to 1918. This is a gift from Captain J. S. Roper, M. C., President of the Dalhousie Alumni Association and of the University Club.

Included among the pictures are several of the Ypres Salient in 1916, and the battle of the Somme, showing Canadian infantry entering the German front line trenches at Courcellette, and views of Mouquet Farm. Then comes the Lens area, with Vimy Ridge positions, both our own and the enemy's from February until May, 1917; Passchendale in October and November; and finally, the campaign of 1918, up to and including the Arras-Cambrai battle.

Particularly interesting and clear is the oblique panorama of the Canal du Nord and Bourslon Wood, taken at the precise moment when the Huns blew up a bridge in an attempt to hinder the advance of the attacking Canadians.

Highly instructive as illustrations of the effect of shell fire are the views of such cities and towns as Acheville, Fresnoy, and Cite du Moulin, taken before and after bombardment.

The photographs were taken by eight different Squadrons of the Royal Air Force, and compiled by Lieut. C. C. Brooks, M. C., of the General Staff, Canadian Corps, Intelligence Branch. They constitute an invaluable memorial of the work of Canada's gallant soldiers in the Great War, as well as being intensely interesting and of a high educational value. "QUILL".

PERSONAL.

Arthur Reginald Lilly, LL. B. ('22), was admitted to the Bar of Nova Scotia on motion of Stuart Jenks, K. C., before Honorable Mr. Justice Chisholm, in Supreme Court Chambers on Wednesday morning, Oct. 25.

"Art." has decided to locate in Halifax, and will enter the office of Mr. J. S. Roper, LL. B. An excellent athlete and student, he is immensely popular among Dalhousians, who wish him every success for the future.

Arts-Law Debate

Discussion of Important Economic Resolution Next Friday Evening.

Sodales is undertaking a much more extensive programme in debating than in former years. It has outlined a schedule for a series of inter-faculty debates which are to commence with the oratorical combat between Arts and Law on November 3rd. The subject of this debate is: "Resolved that the coal mines of Canada should be owned and operated by the Government." The budding Ciceros of Art, Mr. Bissett and Mr. Don. McInnes, are upholding the negative against the Lawyers, represented by Mr. Claude Richardson, M. A., and Mr. Flavin.

This debate is on one of the most vital questions of the day. There has only recently been a great deal of agitation in Canada over Government control of the railways. In England, during the war, Government control of coal mines was tried temporarily, but it resulted in lessening of production.

These inter-faculty debates will prove a great help to those who are intending to enter the Intercollegiate trials, and a great number of students should be present to hear them, as it is no inspiration to speak to rows of empty chairs.

The Debate between Medicine and Dentistry has been scheduled for November 10 and the date of the final debate between the victorious faculties will be announced later. A. G. M.

PERSONAL.

Sydney M. Zinck, B. A., LL.B., '22, recently accepted a position on the teaching staff of Calgary High School for this term. Mr. Zinck will be remembered as the editor-in-chief of the Gazette several years ago.

John A. Dunlop, B. A., '22, Rhodes scholar, is enrolled in Law at Exeter College. Before registering "John" spent a pleasant holiday on the "ould sod".

Dalhousie friends are glad to hear that Lieut.-Colonel J. Keillor MacKay, D. S. O., LL. B., ('22), has been admitted to the Bar of Nova Scotia.

Serving with the greatest distinction throughout the entire campaign of the Canadian Corps in France during the Great War, he was an example of utmost bravery and self-sacrifice, and an officer whose powers of leadership were unexcelled.

Overcoming the handicap of ill health due to severe wounds sustained when on active service, he made an excellent record as a student of Law. His popularity among his fellow students was evinced when he was elected President of the Law Society, a position which he filled in a very capable manner throughout his final year.

HAMILTON—DAVIS.

Many of his college friends are surprised to learn that Howard Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Hamilton, New Glasgow, who mysteriously disappeared for a week, has taken unto himself a wife, in the person of Miss Agnes Maude Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Davis, New Glasgow. They were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at Columbus Manse, Hope-well, by Rev. Christopher Munro, on Wednesday, October 18th, in presence of friends. "Howard" is secretary-treasurer of Arts and Science Society, and served his country in France during the Great War. He made himself famous this year at college by leading the Pine Hill Pipers.

Who is the medical lecturer who counts the class, counts the names in the attendance book and calls the roll twice? Efficiency, eh, what!

Visited Gas Works

The Engineering Society Conducted Through Tram Company Plant.

On Saturday, October 21st, the Engineers paid a very interesting visit to the Tram Company's Gas Works. On arrival at 10 a.m. and for the next two and a half hours Mr. Dawson, Chief Analyst, looked after the visitors in a very interesting manner.

He first took them to the Lab., where he explained and illustrated briefly the method used to produce the gas, then visited every other part of the plant.

Beginning at the water's edge, where the coal is received from barges, he traced its course along belts, up elevators and down chutes to the crushers. From here to the retorts was but a step, and after examining these, and glimpsing the great bed of white-hot coke beneath, the next study was of the gas. Tar, a by-product of the gas, was first seen, and then the great coolers, washers and storage tanks received attention.

Mr. Dawson is not only an expert in his line, but, what was more to the point, he could describe the process interestingly. From the time the party entered the Lab. until they bade him adieu at the door there wasn't a dull moment. He answered questions, advertised coke, and explained what a wonderful large field the gas industry presented to the budding engineer.

The Society thanks Mr. Dawson and the other officials for their courtesy in permitting them to visit the plant, and for the attention shown while they were there.

Saturday of this week the Society expects to visit the Hydro-Electric plant at St. Margaret's Bay.

Pine Hill Post

"Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual restore such an one in the spirit of meekness considering thyself lest thou also be tempted."

These words were the centre and text of the message delivered to the monks on Monday evening by Pope Tass Langwith. Long and dreary was the night spent by this holy man in his rude cell. All through the dark hours could be heard his measured footsteps as he hunted up lists and down indictments, wearing holes in the carpet. Great drops of water stood out on his brow, which were collected and hermetically sealed by Syd. Gilchrist. Nowhere could be found a solution—never had any such thing happened in Pine Hill—there was no precedent. In desperation he called in Larry McKenzie, Rex Imperator, and Admiral Bill Jones. Nothing could be agreed on—the king wished to shoot the culprit and the admiral insisted he be drowned.

Robert Cumming Robb was summoned and suggested a form of punishment he had witnessed in the Sang-Wah monastery at Ham-Strung, Korea. Make him live with his wife and thus be a living example to all others. This met with instant approval—the knotty problem had been solved.

Howard Hamilton, one of the most steadfast of the brethren, had slipped and fallen. No one could believe he premeditated this atrocious crime, but the punishment could not be mitigated. As the great Pine Hill clock boomed three times, to which, of course, fifteen is added and six subtracted, making exactly midnight, the monks filed slowly into the great corridor, and the papal bull was sent to convey this unfortunate victim of circumstances thither.

While everybody waited with faces drawn haggard, suddenly at the top of the stairs appeared a vision of such loveliness that Cliff. Grant's hair changed from a part to a pompadour and back again, while with one voice the monks shouted "Hail the bridegroom cometh." Keeping perfect time with the strains of the wedding march soulfully rendered by Wick he descended the stairs leaning slightly on the arm of Sam. Proffit, who had never deserted him, and accepted the seat at the head of the table.

As in olden days when Cleopatra in her gilded barge captured the heart of Mark Antony, even so did he the hearts of his brethren. Never was conversion so rapid and fervent. One look at the bridegroom's face and all was changed. Vanished every thought of justice, restitution and chastisement—and the night became one of rejoicing and merry-making. Under the miraculous hand of Bill Jones glasses of milk appeared on

University Hall

On several evenings lately, the boys have gathered in the sitting room for a sing-song. Copies of "Dal. Songs, 1921," being produced, all joined heartily in the singing. There are some good songs in this book, and it is too bad more of them are not known.

The Law Song is very catchy indeed, and the Engineers' Song, sung to the tune of "Mademoiselle from Armentieres," has a good swing too. Nearly everyone knows the rollicking airs of the Med. Song and the Dutch Company. There is a Stein Song in the book, which is very popular with college glee clubs. One of the peppiest college songs ever written is also included. That is the old Yale song, "Boola". Now is a great chance to learn some of these songs, and to add to a repertoire already resplendent with such arias as "Mr. Gallagher", etc.

There is some talk just now of entertaining the Alumni in the near future. At a meeting last week, Messrs. DeWolfe, Thurrott and Cameron were appointed as an entertainment committee. The idea is to do away with all formality, and to have a "kick in the cyder." The tentative date is November 16th.

Messrs. D—n and G—h—m, the theatrical first-nighters of the Hall, have been going the rounds lately. They have looked the current flappers over, but don't seem very enthusiastic. They did pick up the information, however, that "Marty" is coming back. So book your seats for the front row now.

You want to know who Marty is? Why, she is a wonderful sedative, Marty is, just before exams.

Several complaints have been registered with the House Committee re one R—l—h L—n—g—le. It appears that he woke the whole third floor every morning last week at the early hour of five. He wishes to offer an apology to the boys, as the early rising was merely a part of his training for the Herald and Mail bicycle race.

The photograph business is rushing around the Hall just now—no, not rushing past the door. It is said, however, that the collection of pictures is incomplete owing to the fact that all the prints of several real good action snaps of the first game were bought up by one of the senior forwards. Br—c— may know the details.

At a recent general meeting, some of the residents wanted to bring up the question of lemon pie, presented last week. It is rumored that Pop even went so far as to bring the pie itself. A few of the wise birds called for a cut—and won. A. C. M.

Education And Labor

J. S. Woodsworth, M. P., in the course of an address to the students made some remarks which he believed should be received with interest by all Canadian students and which should command their serious consideration. The speaker in comparing Canadian colleges with those of the Motherland deprecated the apparent lack of interest manifested in economic questions and more particularly those which immediately concern the vexatious problems of capital and labor, by both professors and students.

The Ruskin School at Oxford claims such great economic thinkers as Bernard Shaw, H. G. Wells, Beatrice and Sidney Webb, and other universities in England have developed men who gave of their time and ability to the study of the complex organization of industrial activity. Canadians must awake to their responsibilities and it is to the students of this age that opportunities unheard of previous to now, are being offered for real service in this field of endeavour.

Much is heard of education saving the world, just as many have referred to the present vaunted civilization as the result of education.

But it is a sorry spectacle to an over-worked, poverty-stricken, ill-housed laborer—and one little wonders why there is a revolt against the dogmas which have been expounded under the guise of education. Only when professors and students take a more active interest in the conditions under which these workmen live will these latter people put faith in education as the saving force of the world. It is to the students of the present to quicken their thought in this regard, to renew or to arouse the quest for knowledge of the more fundamental economic laws and sociological principles, and to practice, when leaving the halls of learning these habits of living and canons of business morality which will work to the best interests of the entire community in which they are placed.

Democracy in its truest form will not be reached till there obtains a closer co-operation between the employer, the employee and the consumer. There can never be a state of political democracy till the dawn of industrial or economic democracy has begun to glow. The clarion call goes forth to students of vision, of sincerity and singleness of purpose to usher in the day when the gigantic problem which now confronts the world will have passed away and a new dispensation conforming to the highest code of ethics will be made permanent.

Picking good friends is a process queer; you can't land them with gun nor spear.

CORRESPONDENCE

(The Gazette accepts no responsibility for views expressed in this column.)

Correspondents are requested not to exceed three hundred words.)

The Editor, The Dalhousie Gazette:

Sir,—I understand that the large reception hall of the new Girls' Residence is to be tiled instead of hardwood, as was the original plan. I can scarcely believe that anyone in authority and with a true interest in Dalhousie, would permit this to be.

This hall, with the adjoining drawing room, is intended primarily for entertaining, and it is almost unthinkable that in the whole future of Shireff Hall no large dances will be held there, simply because of the thoughtlessness of the authorities.

This matter is of vital interest to every student, and should be taken up and strenuously opposed by the Students' Council. This should be done immediately, as no change can be made once the floor is down. M.

PHARMACY OFFICERS

At the first meeting of the class in Pharmacy, the following officers were elected for the year:—L. H. LeBlanc, president; W. R. Pearo, vice-president; F. J. Godfrey, secretary-treasurer. After a short discussion of routine business the meeting adjourned.

The class this year is small compared with that of 1921-22, there being only 18 enrolled. Mrs. (Dr.) Covert, of Canning, N. S., fills the role of chaperone charmingly. Dr. Hugh Bell is conducting the classes in Botany this term, and Mr. Alfred Trask, gold medallist of 1922, is ably filling the position of assistant to Dean Burbridge.

'Tis better to have travelled and never tarried than never to have travelled at all.

Dental Prophylaxis

The Dental Infirmary still continues to flourish in spite of the fact that the third year have been practising for at least three weeks and are all willing to try anything once. Even in this short space of time many have been the big words that have been met and mastered. Chief among these was "Prophylaxis", which was indeed a sticker, but when it finally became plain that it was not kept in a bottle and given by the spoonful things went better.

After investigation, however, it was found that it was merely the application of a tasteful concoction (formula known only to the mixer), which one sweetly assures the children is another form of molasses candy. This mixture is diligently applied by means of a round brush, which goes round and round, throwing the candy around the teeth, around the mouth, around the face and around the room in general. It was this round about action which inspired some wit to remark that Prophylaxis was then merely aroundabout way of saying "Cleaning the Teeth".

By dint of perseverance many have learned that the word patients was simply a slang for patience—not the patience upon the part of the patient patients but that patience of the patient student who wasted patience upon the patient patient.

Immediately following the first Materia Medica lecture Murray Logan was appointed to personally investigate and report upon the maximum dose of procaine. At the time of going to press Mr. Logan advises that he has successfully navigated three capsules but that the final conclusive results of his research will be found shortly in that column of the local papers titled "Obituary".

While the less experienced wrestle with the problems of the day the fourth year serenely continue to extract, fill and bridge. It is said that Vic Calkin, when adjusting a napkin about a patient's neck, both professionally and automatically still assures her that she is getting back to "Bib days", while it is persist-

Opinion of a Co-ed

General Regret That Shireff Hall Is Not Ready For Occupation.

Now that the noise of building operations prevents students from attempting to sleep during lecture hours, a great deal of interest is manifest on the part of the student body in general. Especially is this so in the case of the fair Co-eds at Studley who wander across to the southwestern corner of the campus and daily gaze upon the structure of their future residence—Shireff Hall.

The Gazette, wishing to obtain an opinion as to how the girls regarded present conditions, sought out one of the fairest with the following result:

"As I was walking thru the hall at college the other day I overheard the reply of one of the fair sex to her male friend, "Oh! a very nice summer, but I'm glad to be back" and she has only voiced the opinion of many of us, for much as we enjoyed the summer, still we were glad to return, and it is only a few of the "expected" who have not arrived. It is regrettable that the new residence is not as yet completed as we were promised it would be, but we can only hope that with the new year will come the much-looked-forward to event of living in Shireff Hall, making it possible for the girls to become better acquainted with each other and to enjoy the college life only found in residence. It is hard to get used to living out in the city as we miss the congenial atmosphere found in the Marlboro, even if there was only a small number of us. It makes us lonesome to see the place forsaken entirely when we recall the good times of only last year."

ently rumored that Clay continues to cover the ground.

Few realize that there is a class of '26. This class at a largely attended meeting recently appointed Mr. K. K. Beaton President, Mr. K. Beaton Vice-President, and Mr. Beaton, Secretary-Treasurer. This we were assured was no put up job and by no mean a family affair. This class further challenges all other classes to show where they all made the Football team and all live in the same place. Incidentally "Ken" Beaton is the only member of this class. The First Year Dentals, twelve in number, held a meeting recently and elected John McCurdy, President, and J. A. Tupper, Secretary-Treasurer.

A beautifully framed, enlarged portrait of the late Dean Woodbury has been placed in the Dental Infirmary.

Rush of work has necessitated additional help in the Infirmary and Miss MacPeak is at present assisting Miss Littler in managing the office—and the patients.

Dr. Young, one of last year's graduates, who spent the summer in charge of the Dental work of the Red Cross clinic, is away again in this work, but expects shortly to settle in Kentville.

Medical Society

On Thursday evening, October the 19th, the Medical Society held its first meeting for the term 1922-23. The president, F. L. "Dinty" Moore, was unable to attend on account of D.A.A.C. business, so Gordon Bruce, vice-president, occupied the chair.

On the arrival of "Tubby" Milne, ten minutes late, the meeting was called to order. The secretary, "Fabe" Bates, read the minutes. Mr. Bruce then explained the minutes, reported for all committees and stated the business of the meeting and the aims and ideals of the Medical Society. Minutes, reports, aims and ideals were all passed and approved unanimously. For speed and efficiency all hats must be taken off to Gordon Bruce. As regards procedure—what do Meds know about procedure anyway? In his opening remarks Mr. Bruce said: "For the benefit of the new men I will let you know what the Medical Society embraces." (Hear! Hear! Violent applause from Zinck).

After a small amount of discussion a social committee was appointed to look after the annual Medical Dance and the giving of entertainments. The secretary was instructed to notify the honored of their appointments.

The question of finances was next brought up. This gave promise of lengthy verbal encounters, but the vice-president meant business and the secretary looked as if he were out for blood, so it was very soon settled that the Medical Society membership fee for this year would be one dollar and that thirty-five cents would be collected from each member at the same time to pay for the special Medical insert in the handbook.

After the money question had been settled Lincoln Zinck, the Lunenburg athlete, rose in a bashful manner, but warming to his subject delivered an impassioned appeal for whole-hearted support in producing a first class Medical football team. Mr. Zinck sat down in a limp condition amid deafening applause and Mr. Popplestone fanned him with his Dunhill pipe. On motion the meeting adjourned.

Owing to the press of business there was not time to formally introduce the new men to the Society, but it is hoped that the Social Committee will shortly prepare for this ordeal and surpass the ceremonies of last year. H.

A LIBEL SUIT.

In consequence of a letter from the pen of X-ray, published in The Gazette last week, an action for libel has been commenced by Messrs. Beazley, Longhead and Ferguson, solicitors for Mr. R. MacKenna. The case will be tried in the Moot Court of Dalhousie in the near future.

COMING HOME.

I

When the long shadows fall on the pathway,
And day slowly draws to a close,
When the slathering lights drift through the forest,
And earth at last sinks in repose;—
How sweet to come home through the twilight,
By meadow and pine wood and stream,
To hear the low wind in the grasses,
To wonder, to think, and to dream.
The dusk, like a mantle of velvet,
Is laid on the mountains afar,
The evening is silver with silence,
And crowned with the gold of a star;
The light-hearted friends have departed,
Their laughter has ceased for the day,
I left them far down in the distance,
Alone, to return o'er my way;
And I hear in the brook's muffled murmur
Of onward and onward,
In the song of a bird floating down
Through the deepening gloom,
In the whispering breeze, in the throbs
Of the stillness around me
I hear the refrain:
Coming home, coming home, coming home.

II

When the last shadows close on Life's pathway,
That slowly leads down to the west,
When the tired feet linger and falter,
The weary heart hungers for rest;—
Oh! perhaps it is sweet to come homeward,
Across the wide waste of the years,
To walk 'neath the place and the silence
Away from this valley of tears.
The struggle and stress of the battle
Recede with the daylight's pale beams,
And out through the lowering darkness
The lamp of eternity gleams;
The friends that I loved have departed
And silently gone on their way,—
I follow the road they have travelled Alone, at the end of the day;
But I hear in my soul, sweet as music
Of bells in the distance,
And soft as the moonlight that falls on
The ocean's white foam,

Second Tie Game of Series at Studley

Showing considerable improvement in the work of the half line, and out-playing their rivals throughout the game, the Dalhousie Senior fifteen were however held to a tie in Saturday's Rugby game at Studley.

Neither team was able to cross the other's goal line for a try, both scores resulting from free kicks. It looked as if a Varsity player were over on several occasions, but always there was something to spoil the attempt; either the player had stepped over the touch line, or the referee's whistle proclaimed an infringement of the rules. However, such are the breaks of the game.

Fluck, Kelly McLean and Kenny Beaton were injured, and each, though visibly affected in his playing as a result, stayed pluckily in the thick of the game until the end.

There was no score in the first period though Dalhousie had a shade the better of the play.

Seven minutes after the second period opened, the Red and Black were given a free kick on the strength of heeling a caught ball, an opportunity which Lilly took to send a place kick over the Tiger goal posts for the first score. Just three minutes later, however, Mont. Haslam, taking a penalty kick, showed his skill at drop kicking and in spite of the difficult angle, tied the score.

From then on the Gold and Black were never far from the Wanderers' ten yard line, but were unable to break through their defence.

Fluck, at fullback, though lamed by an injury to his knee early in the game, did some good kicking.

With Langwith back again, the Dal half line worked the best yet this season. He showed consistent cleverness and his customary reliability when in difficult situations. Coster and Bates worked hard, while Mont. Haslam was splendid, playing his best game this year. It was unfortunate that the ball did not get out to him more often, as he certainly was not slow in advancing it when it did come his way.

Capt. "Dinty" Moore and Beaton were right on the job at quarter, but did not get much chance to feed the ball to the half line, as the eight man (3-2-3) scrim failed to heel the ball clear most of the time. This formation has not proved to be a "howling success" in the last two games. The varsity forwards were the same

Dalhousie Swimming Team Practices.

Manager MacInnes has had his men out to practice at the Y. M. C. A. tank several times, and is confident that they will soon be able to hold their own with any aquatic aggregation in the Provinces. Barry Schaffner, Hebb, and Oakes have shown ability, and there will be lots of opportunity for more candidates to demonstrate what they can do in the water. Watch the notice board for practice hours!

as in the last game, Bruce, McKenzie, McLean, Baird, Jones, Logan, Sutherland and Orr, everyone being aggressive and not afraid to tackle.

The burlesque game was staged between the Intermediate and Senior games.

The Pine Hill band had the professor's goat, and a lively one it was too. He was apparently an opponent of the "cap and gown" movement, as he was quite obviously adverse to wearing his mortar board at a dignified angle. The balloon scheduled to ascend between the periods of the big game went up dramatically—in smoke.

The Dal Intermediate team showed a hundred per cent improvement over last game, and defeated the Wanderers' Seconds 5 to 3. Phinney showed up in this game, as did Mitchell.

ARTS AND SCIENCE WIN.

"Bill" Morrison's "Red Dogs", despite the effect of intensive coaching in the Law smoking room, went down to defeat before the Studley "Latin Scholars" in the first game of the Interfaculty Football League series, held late Thursday afternoon.

The play was very close, and surprisingly good, considering the lack of practice of the players. The only score of the game came near the end of the first period, when Creighton tallied for Arts-Science, his well placed drop kick making the score 4-0.

Archie Robertson was very noticeable at quarter, his capacity for embracing the embryo legalists being amazing.

Colquhoun played well for the lawyers on the touch line, being responsible for several appreciable gains. The Arts "flag waver" did his best, but was outclassed by "Davy."

Gordon Bruce was a very satisfactory referee, showing just that degree of good judgment required.

Intercollegiate League

EASTERN SECTION

Dalhousie Intercollegiate team plays Kings today at Windsor. The Kings boys have always proved themselves a surprisingly good team for the selves good sports, turning out annual-material available. The "Windsorites" have not shown up very well against Acadia and Mt. A. in practice games this year, but may show added strength today. Those who accompanied Dal's team will see a good game, played by clean players for the sport's sake. May the best team win!

WESTERN SECTION

Acadia and U.N.B. will play off for the championship of the Western Section. Intercollegiate League, this week at Fredericton. The odds seem to be with Acadia to win.

Queens took the lead in the Senior Upper Canadian Football League by defeating Varsity in a very close game at Toronto on Saturday by a score of 15 to 13.

registering.

"Well," he was asked, "what have you to say for yourself?"

"I'm sorry," he replied, "but I really

ed by important business."

The registrar looked at him sternly.
"So you wanted two more days of grace,
did you?" he enquired.

"No, sir, of Marjorie," was the answer.

Freshie-Soph Dance

Annually the first university dance
of the season, the "Freshie-Soph"
Dance held on Friday evening at the Roseland Gardens was highly successful in every way, providing an admirable welcome for the Freshmen (and Freshettes) to Dalhousie social life.

The Class of 1925 proved themselves excellent hosts indeed, providing every requisite of enjoyment. Every one of the twenty-three dances was a treat, perhaps the most notable being the "confetti" dance, which caused
"no end of a flurry", as surprised and besprinkled couples scrambled to escape the shower.

The chaperones were Mrs. McMech-an, Mrs. Copp and Mrs. Munro, each of whom carried out her duties in a very gracious manner.

At the conclusion of the fourth dance, Mr. Wallace Sedgewick, Pres. of Class of 1925, welcomed the guests in a short and witty speech, Mr. Gordon
MacOdrum, President of the Freshman Class responding fittingly on their behalf.

The entire arrangements for the function were carried out by the Sophomore Social Committee, composed of Messrs. Jack Campbell, Gordon Winfield, Lockhart Travis, and Misses Harriet Elliott, Isabel MacDonald, and May Linton, assisted by Mr. J. H.
McNicoll.
