

In Memoriam

SINCE last number was issued, THE DALHOUSIE REVIEW has lost one of its earliest and most enthusiastic friends. The late GEORGE STEWART CAMPBELL served on its Board of Directors ever since the magazine was founded, and had its interests constantly at heart. It appealed to him particularly as an aspect of that educational progress to which he was so devoted, and to whose service he brought the same high talent combined with unflagging energy which had made him so successful in private business. In common with many other public enterprises to which his balanced judgment was of such value and from which his disinterested support was never withheld, THE DALHOUSIE REVIEW bears grateful tribute to his memory.
