

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

GAETANO SALVEMINI.

Formerly Professor of History in the University of Florence. Now visiting professor at both Harvard and Yale Universities. An historian of high repute for his books, and the most conspicuous of the literary Italian exiles who are waging the fight from abroad against Fascism.

JOHN MURRAY.

Principal of University College, Exeter, England. Formerly M.P. for Leeds.

MADGE MACBETH.

The celebrated Canadian novelist. Resident in Ottawa. National President of the Canadian Authors' Association.

A. O. MACRAE.

Of Victoria, B. C. A member of the staff of the Education Department, University of British Columbia.

H. N. FIELDHOUSE.

Professor of History, University of Manitoba.

C. PRESCOTT McLENNAN.

Now resident at Hove, Sussex, England. A veteran journalist, who served long as a writer for newspapers in Nova Scotia.

AUGUST ROBERTS LEISNER.

Of the University of Toronto. Engaged just now in work upon the literary remains of Hardy.

GEORGE H. MURPHY.

Dr. G. H. Murphy, Professor of Surgery, Dalhousie University. Formerly Minister of Health in the Government of Nova Scotia.

ARTHUR S. BOURINOT.

Of Ottawa. The well known Canadian poet.

AILEEN WARD.

Of Toronto.

H. L. STEWART.

Professor of Philosophy, Dalhousie University.

G. HERSOM.

Of the University of Western Ontario. Engaged at London, Ont., upon research work in the field of the Renaissance.

GERALDINE P. DILLA.

Professor of English, University of Kansas City, Missouri.