of English might be claimed by the pragmatist as in agreement with his own principles.

The main characteristic of this part of the book, however, is that it is essentially critical and therefore incomplete. To take an example, chapter 1 contains a very penetrating and convincing criticism of Vocational Guidance as practised in some places on this continent. Yet, after the worst has been said, it still remains true that young people differ in abilities, aptitudes, temperament and character, and that jobs differ in the requirements they make upon those attributes. The need for some form of vocational guidance still remains. In this as in other cases Prof. Diltz tells us what not to do, but omits positive suggestions. Perhaps his next book will contain such. If so, it will be eagerly welcomed.

Station - to - Station Long Distance Calls

It's cheaper and faster to use Station-to-Station Service on your Long Distance Telephone calls. A Station-to-Station Call is one where you ask for a telephone number, and not for a particular person.

The saving through using this class of service amounts to as much as thirty per cent on calls during the day. On calls after six p.m. the average saving is larger still. Besides, your call goes through much more quickly—usually while you hold the line.

Save yourself money and get quicker service by using Station-to-Station Service whenever possible. Remember it especially on Sundays, as Night Rates are effective all day then and your saving is still greater.

DO YOU KNOW?...

The first use of a public address system by a President of the United States in a speech to a Canadian audience was on August 26, 1923, when President Harding addressed 40,000 Canadians in Stanley Park, Vancouver, over a Northern Electric Public Address System. To-day Northern Electric Public Address Systems are an accepted part of our public life, used wherever large audiences gather. For the best in all electrical equipment, look for the name Northern Electric.
