

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

HEATH N. MACQUARRIE, Professor of Political Science and International Relations, Brandon College Inc., Man., and Foreign News Analyst for Station CKX, has specialized in Pan-American studies for many years. He is a member of a new committee on Inter-American Affairs.

MAURICE LATEY is a journalist and specialist in international affairs whose talks are often broadcast from London.

JOHN E. OWEN, Associate Professor of Sociology at Florida Southern College, is a native of England who recently served as visiting professor at the University of Helsinki, Finland.

ISOBEL McFADDEN, Toronto, has contributed to a number of periodicals in Canada and the United States and has had two plays produced on the Winnipeg Radio Theatre.

K. M. HAMILTON, of Elmsdale, N. S., has contributed articles on literary and philosophical subjects to The Dalhousie Review and other journals.

CYRIL CLEMENS, of Kirkwood, Mo., is a relative of the late Mark Twain and has been a frequent contributor to The Dalhousie Review.

DOUGLAS LOCHHEAD is University Librarian at Dalhousie University.

J. RUSSELL HARPER is Archivist at The New Brunswick Museum, Saint John.

AGUSTIN YANEZ, author, critic, university professor, member of the Colegio Nacional, member of the Academia Mexicana de la Lengua, and at present Governor of Jalisco, is one of Mexico's leading writers and educationists. His novel, Al Filo del Agua, published in 1947, was considered by many critics to be one of the most profound psychological studies yet written of the life of a small village on the eve of the Revolution.

ETHEL BRINTON, Associate Professor of Modern Languages at the Memorial University of Newfoundland, translated Dr. Yanez' paper during her current leave of absence for graduate studies at the University of Mexico.

H. H. WEIL, is Professor of German at University College, London.

NEVILLE BRAYBROOKE is a well-known English critic of letters and philosophy.

LAWRENCE P. SPINGARN is a writer, editor, and teacher of English, now living in North Hollywood. His stories have been listed in Best American Short Stories for 1950, 1951, and 1953.

C. R. FAY, Belfast, is the author of a number of works on Economic History. He is Reader Emeritus in Economic History, Cambridge, and from 1921 to 1930 was Professor of Economic History, University of Toronto.

ARTHUR S. BOURINOT is a distinguished Canadian lawyer and poet who has won many awards for his literary efforts. For several years he served as Editor of the Canadian Poetry Magazine.