

LINDA AVRIL BURNETT is teaching literature part time and editing freelance, while completing a PhD in English at McGill University.

RODNEY STENNING EDGECOMBE is a Senior Lecturer in English at the University of Cape Town. He took his MA at Rhodes University and his PhD at Trinity College, Cambridge, where he also won the Members' English Prize for 1978/79. He has published books on Herbert, Crabbe, Patrick White and Muriel Spark, and articles on a wide range of topics (including the aesthetics and history of classical ballet). A book on Thomas Gray is in press with the University of Salzburg.

GORDON MACKAY HALIBURTON was born at Greenwich, Nova Scotia in 1928, grew up on the banks of the Avon River with the Minas Basin and Cape Blomidon as constant companions, and now lives in Wolfville. He studied at Acadia, Edinburgh and Dalhousie before taking up a teaching career in Sierra Leone. He earned his PhD in African History from the University of London and went on to do research, to write, and to teach in southern Africa, at the University of Botswana, Lesotho and Swaziland, and in Nigeria. His MA thesis at Dalhousie was on "The History of Railways in Nova Scotia," and his publications include The Prophet Harris, Historical Dictionary of Lesotho, "For Their God," Education, Religion and the Scots in Nova Scotia, Clansmen of Nova Scotia, and The Story of the Rev. Duncan Ross.

JEAN HOLLANDER's first book of poems, entitled Crushed into Honey, winner of the Eileen W. Barnes Award for 1986, was published by Saturday Press in 1987. Her poetry has appeared in various magazines and anthologies, such as the Sewanee Review, Quarterly Review of Literature, American Scholar, Literary Review, Poet Lore, and New England Review. In recent years she has been a lecturer at Princeton University, and director of writers' conferences at Trenton State College.

M. TRAVIS LANE has published six books of poetry, the most recent of which is Solid Things, from Cormorant Press. She has two books forthcoming, This Far, from Goose Lane, and an as yet untitled ms. due in 1994 from Brick. She is an Honorary Research Associate with the University of New Brunswick.

JOYCE K. LUZZI has published poems in Interim, International Poetry Review, Midwest Quarterly, and Writer's Forum. Others are forthcoming in Birmingham Poetry Review, Cumberland Poetry Review, Kansas Quarterly, The Literary Review, and Poet Lore. She is now working on a volume of poems about changed relationships.

ROGER BURFORD MASON is the editor of a group of community news magazines. His second collection of short stories, of which "The Beaver Picture" is the title-story, will be published by Hounslow Press in the fall of this year.

NATASHA SAJE is a PhD candidate at the University of Maryland. Her dissertation examines the coquette figure in the novel. Her poems appear or are forthcoming in The American Voice, Antaeus, Feminist Studies, Prairie Schooner, and elsewhere.

MADLINE SONIK has an MA in Journalism and lives on Vancouver Island, where she writes, studies analytical psychology and raises two daughters.

LEONARD W. SUGDEN is a professeur agrégé in French Studies at Concordia University in Montreal. His article, "Gilbert La Rocque: Vampire of Words," appeared in vol. 68 no. 4 of the Dalhousie Review.