

D. M. R. BENTLEY is a Professor of English at the University of Western Ontario. He has published widely in the fields of Victorian and Canadian literature, most recently on the Rossettis in English Language Notes and on John Strachan in Canadian Poetry: Studies, Documents, Reviews. His "Mimic Fires: Accounts of Early Long Poems on Canada" is to be published by McGill-Queen's University Press.

KENNETH BORRIS is Assistant Professor of English at McGill University. His academic awards include a five-year Canada Research Fellowship and the Isabel MacCaffrey Prize for the best article on Spenser published internationally in 1990. His most recent publication is Spenser's Poetics of Prophecy in "The Faerie Queene" V (English Literary Studies, 1991).

PAUL M. CURTIS teaches at Université de Moncton and has published articles on Byron and Bishop Berkeley. His research interests also include post-colonial literature.

NEILE GRAHAM is a Canadian writer living in Seattle, Washington. Collections of her poems are Seven Robins, and Spells for Clear Vision (forthcoming from Brick Books in 1994).

ANTHONY LAWRENCE lives in Geraldton, on the Batavia Coast, Western Australia. His poetry has been published widely in Australia and New Zealand and also in River City (formerly the Memphis State Review), Poetry Canada Review, and Seneca Review. His fourth book of poems, The Northstar Raven and the Grassman is forthcoming from Fremantle Arts Centre Press.

EDWARD C. LYNKEY lives in Warrenton, Virginia. His poetry has been accepted by Poetry Northwest, Chicago Review, The Windless Orchard, and Mississippi Valley Review.

MIKE D. PARKER lives in Brighton, Sussex. He teaches English in a state comprehensive school. Formerly he was an advertising copywriter. His poetry has been published in Critical Quarterly and Iron Poetry.

MATTHEW SCHNEIDER is assistant professor of English Literature at Chapman University in Orange, California. He teaches nineteenth-century British Literature, Ancient Greek, Roman, and Biblical Literature, and the History of Critical Theory.

ALLISON CHILDS WELLS is currently at work on her second volume of poems, "Sun and Rain." Her work has appeared in ARIEL, Yankee, Christian Science Monitor, and other publications, and has been selected for the Anthology of Magazine Verse and Yearbook of American Poetry. She recently completed a Lectureship in Writing at Cornell University.

DANIEL WOOLF is Associate Professor of History at Dalhousie University. He is the author of The Idea of History in Early Stuart England (Toronto: University of Toronto Press, 1990) and co-editor of The Rhetorics of Life-Writing in Early Modern Europe: Forms of Biography from Cassandra Fedele to Louis XIV, to be published in 1994 by the University of Michigan Press. He is now at work on a book-length study of early modern historical culture.