

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

DR. HERBERT L. STEWART, graduate of Lincoln College, Oxford and of the Royal University of Ireland, and for many years Professor of Philosophy at Dalhousie University, Halifax, Nova Scotia. * * * FRANCIS HILTON PAGE, Professor of Psychology (King's) and Head of the Department of Psychology, Dalhousie University. * * * MARY NICHOLL, graduate of University College, Cardiff, Wales and member of the Royal Society of Teachers of England; frequent contributor to contemporary British periodicals; presently residing in Vancouver. * * * AGNES FOLEY MACDONALD of Halifax; well-known Canadian poet and wife of the Honourable Angus L. Macdonald, Premier of Nova Scotia. * * * MADGE MACBETH, (Mrs. Charles Macbeth) of Ottawa; author of numerous books and short stories and frequent contributor to The Dalhousie Review. * * * WILLIAM WHITE, Assistant Professor of Journalism, Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan; author of A Henry David Thoreau Bibliography, 1817-1862; Sir William Osler: Historian and Literary Essayist; and numerous other books and articles on medical history, bibliography, Philology, and English and American literature. * * * SISTER MAURA, Professor of English, Mount Saint Vincent College, Rockingham, Nova Scotia; author of several books of prose and verse and contributor of essays and poetry to current literary periodicals. * * * GWENDOLEN MASSEY (Mrs. Frederick Massey), of Fair Vale, New Brunswick; a former contributor to The Dalhousie Review under the name of Gwendolen Merrin; radio script writer for the Atlantic School Broadcasts and other radio series. * * * LAURENCE DAKIN of Suva, Fiji Islands; a Nova Scotian by birth; author of several books and frequent contributor to literary periodicals in Canada and the United Kingdom. * * * R. A. O'BRIEN, a graduate of the Universities of Western Ontario and McGill; presently Assistant Librarian at the Royal Military College, Kingston. * * * W. H. G. ARMYTAGE, Lecturer in Education, University of Sheffield, England, and contributor to numerous historical and literary reviews.