

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

DR. WATSON KIRKCONNELL, graduate of Queens University and Lincoln College, Oxford; President of Acadia University, Wolfville, Nova Scotia and Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada; author of European Elegies, The European Heritage, The Flying Bull and Other Tales, and many other books and articles. * * * DR. ARTHUR L. MURPHY, graduate of Dalhousie University; Assistant Professor of Surgery, Dalhousie University; and Surgeon to the hospitals of Halifax. * * * DR. JOHN A. IRVING, graduate of the University of Toronto and Trinity College, Cambridge; presently Head of the Department of Philosophy, Victoria College, University of Toronto; author of Science and Values, to be published in September, 1952, as well as of several other volumes; frequent contributor to scholarly periodicals in Canada and the United States. * * * DR. D. R. G. OWEN, graduate of the University of Toronto and Oxford University; later studied Theology under Reinholdt Neibuhr and Paul Tillach at Union Theological Seminary, New York; served as Chaplain in the Canadian Army overseas in World War II; Associate Professor of Ethics, Trinity College and lecturer in the Philosophy of Religion at Wycliffe College, Toronto; author of Science, Man and Religion, published in the Spring of 1952. * * * DR. E. S. CARPENTER, graduate of the University of Pennsylvania; served in the United States Marine Corps during World War II; Assistant Professor of Anthropology, University of Toronto; contributor of numerous articles on anthropological topics to Canadian and American periodicals; currently engaged in a book on Time and Space Concepts of the Eskimo. * * * DR. GEORGE P. GRANT, graduate of Queens University and Balliol College, Oxford; Rhodes Scholar in 1939; presently Professor of Philosophy at Dalhousie University, Halifax. * * * DR. MURDOCH H. M. MacKINNON, graduate of the University of Toronto; presently Associate Professor of English, University of Western Ontario; on leave in the United Kingdom, 1950-1951, as the holder of a Royal Society of Canada Scholarship. * * * MARY AGNES BERESFORD, graduate of the Universities of St. Andrews, Scotland, Dalhousie and Columbia; frequent contributor to literary and educational magazines on both sides of the Atlantic; member of the faculty of the Nova Scotia Normal College, Truro, N. S. * * * REV. KENNETH M. HAMILTON, graduate of London University, formerly congregational minister of Wallington, Surrey, England, and now residing at Elmsdale, N. S.; frequent contributor to The Dalhousie Review and other literary periodicals. * * * RALPH GUSTAFSON, graduate of Bishop's University, Lennoxville, Quebec, and Oxford University; author of Light Into Darkness, a volume of poems, and a forthcoming book of short stories entitled The Paper Spike and other Stories; editor of The Penguin Anthology of Canadian Poetry and Canadian Accent; Mr. Gustafson's poems and prose have appeared in numerous anthologies and in leading Canadian and American periodicals. * * * DR. ROY DAVIS, member of the Dalhousie Class of '99; for many years Departmental Head and Assistant Dean of Boston University; a specialist in "Applied English" on which he has written numerous texts and has served as a consultant for several large industrial corporations. * * * MRS. VERNA LOVEDAY HARDEN, of Toronto. * * * DR. NORMAN WARD, graduate of MacMaster University and the University of Toronto and author of Canadian House of Commons: Representation (Toronto, 1950); frequent contributor to many British, Canadian and American periodicals.