

Contributors

DOROTHY J. SMITH

Assistant Librarian, Allegheny College; a graduate of Case Western Reserve University and of Yale; author of articles on literature and librarianship in several journals.

PATRICK O'FLAHERTY

Associate Professor of English, Memorial University of Newfoundland; in London, England, in 1968-9 as a fellow of the C. D. Howe Foundation and the Canada Council, preparing a critical study of Dr. Johnson.

ROYCE MacGILLIVRAY

Assistant Professor of History at the University of Waterloo; author of articles on History and Philosophy; has been working for some time on a book on the seventeenth-century historians, which will be completed during a sabbatical year in 1970-71.

M. D. FABER

Assistant Professor of English, University of Victoria, B. C., author of a wide variety of articles in numerous journals; has a special interest in the psycho-dynamic criticism of literature; an anthology of psycho-analytic criticism of Shakespeare is now in production by Science House Publishers, New York.

CHARLES BRUCE FERGUSON

Provincial Archivist, Halifax, Nova Scotia; author or editor of numerous books and articles on the history of Nova Scotia, including The Establishment of Negroes in Nova Scotia; Uniacke's Sketches of Cape Breton and other papers relating to Cape Breton Island (1958); the Diary of Simeon Perkins, vol. 2 [joint editor] (1958); vol. 3 (1961); vol. 4 (1967).

IRA SADOFF

Of the Department of English, Hobart and William Smith Colleges, Geneva, N. Y.; his poetry, fiction, and reviews have been published in numerous literary and critical journals.

JOHN W. DOYLE

Associate Professor of History, Mount Allison University; a graduate of Trinity College, Dublin, with a doctoral dissertation "The Rise of the Irish Labour Movement, 1888-1907"; resident for many years in Dublin and Belfast; editor of Leaders and Workers (Cork, 1966), and a contributor to books and periodicals of numerous articles, chiefly on Irish history, literature, and politics.

DONALD CAMERON

Assistant Professor of English, University of New Brunswick; author of