ONTARIO

The Ontario Association of Architects have hired SSAC member Geoffrey Hunt to investigate procedures for the preservation of architectural records. He is currently studying existing facilities for architectural records at major institutions in Canada in order to advise OAA members of the facilities and options available when placing records in archival institutions. It is hoped that the resultant report will recommend standard procedures for retention of materials for architects and lead to a programme of record management which could serve as a model for other provincial institutions. OAA, 50 Park Road, Toronto, Ontario M4W 2N5.

The Public Archives of Canada exhibit entitled City Blocks, City Spaces: Historical Photographs of Canada's Urban Growth c.1850-1900 will be on display at the Centre for Canadian Photography, 596 Markham Street, Toronto until October 24.
